FRICKER HANGED AT EDWARDSVILLE, DENYING MURDER

Instigator of Killing of John Nungesser Spends Night Playing Cards With Death Watch.

THREE MEN FAINT DURING EXECUTION

Trap Sprung at 9:11 A. M. and His Death Is Announced at 9:25 — 51st Case for Hangman.

Emil Fricker, one-time overlord of the Highland (Ill.) dairying region, was hanged on the gallows in the Madison County jail yard at Edwardsville shortly after 9 o'clock today for instigating the murder of John Nungesser, husband of his erstwhile dairy maid.

I am not guilty of what I'm charged with," he said, before the trap was sprung.

In addition to the death sentence in the Nungesser case, Fricker was under sentence of life imprisonment for the murder of Robert Kehrl, first husband of the dairy maid. The woman recently married a third husband.

Fricker did not sleep last night. Instead he played host in his cell to a newspaper reporter and two Deputy Sheriffs his death watch. The four started a pinochle game in the evening and continued it until early this morning. The 45-year-old prisoner played his cards in silence, except for an occasional word or grunt.

Order Milk for Breakfast.

At 8 a. m. he was told that he could order whatever he wished for breakfast. He asked for and received a glass of milk, nothing more.

The court held that sections one and two of the wireless law were ambiguous and could not apply in the present action, and that Congress did not empower the Secretary of Commerce with certain discretionary powers which he had assumed.

The case originated when station WJAZ, owned and operated by the corporation, and which is licensed to operate upon 322.4 meters two hours weekly under a split arrangement with station KOA at Denver, assumed the use of a 329-meter length which had been set aside for international broadcasting between the United States and Canada.

At the time of the alleged piracy that wave length it was unused. Judge Wilkerson held that the Zenith Corporation and McDonald really were guilty of violation of an administrative regulation promulgated by Secretary of Commerce, however that it was not a criminal violation.

Judge Wilkerson said in an informal conversation with attorneys that he at first had intended to assess a nominal fine and thereby make a test case but that he had changed his mind.

30-Foot March to Scaffold.

New Low Level Reached Second Day in Succession.

PARIS, April 16.—For the second day in succession, the French franc went to a new low level today. The official Bourse closing quotation was 23.73 to the dollar and 144.50 to the pound sterling.

The 30-foot march to the scaffold began with Father Eckhard in the lead, reciting the "Litany of the Saints," and turning half way toward Fricker. Fricker made the responses in a faint voice and seemed to be verging on a collapse. He was supported on both sides by a Deputy. His hands were cuffed and his face was pale.

Fricker climbed the stairs to the scaffold slowly, assisted by the Deputy. He was wearing a black suit, buttoned carelessly, a white shirt with black stripes, a soft collar and striped tie, and an old black fedora. The litany completed, he looked down at the floor, ignoring the spectators.

He said nothing to say "I asked Sheriff Deimling."

The answer was softly spoken that he was born to those on the platform, was "I am not guilty of what I'm charged with."

As Fricker stood upon the gallows, three men in the yard fainting. The noose was adjusted by Hanna and Sheriff Deimling pulled a lever and the trap was sprung. A physician waited 14 minutes before pronouncing Fricker dead.

An undertaker's employee took the body away. The Coroner's jury of 12 men, having witnessed a legal execution, dispersed. The body was claimed by a nephew.

Visited in Cell by Aged Mother.

In his cell last evening, before the pinochle game began, Fricker was visited by his 82-year-old mother, two sisters and a nephew. He Blizzard in Northern Vermont.

By the Associated Press.

ST. ALBANS, Vt., April 16.—All April weather records for Northern Vermont were broken today when a Northwest blizzard swept this section after two days of near zero temperatures. This afternoon the snow continued unabated, driven by a fierce wind. Five feet of snow still covers the ground in many places.

This statement was made today at the offices of Paechen & Broeg, Arcade building, who, with Conway Elder, are attorneys for the receiver, Harry Nettle.

The attorneys added that it appears at this time that the failure of Pechan will prove one of the most disastrous to small investors that has occurred in St. Louis in many years. Small home owners, bartenders, will suffer, it is said, as dozens of small houses are mortgaged on their homes which they believed they had paid off in transactions with Pechan.

Deeds of Trust Involved.

Owners of deeds of trust also have complained that deeds they intrusted to Pechan's keeping also were sold to others while still others have complained that they believed their money was secured by deeds of trust and now find that they have no security.

The heaviest losers, the attorneys said, probably will be persons who made a private banker of Pechan: working people who believed money intrusted to him was safer than in a bank. All that these people have to show for their transactions are little books with entries of the amounts they gave into the keeping of Pechan.

Offices of the Bohemian-American Building and Loan Association are in Pechan's place and he was secretary of the association. Although the affairs of the association, though appearing to be in order, the attorneys said many persons now complain that they had given money to Pechan for investment in the association that was diverted by Pechan to other uses, perhaps to his real estate business. These investors, it was said, cannot hold the association good for these accounts.

Other investors in the association who were given credit on the books for their payments appear to be secured.

Many Inquiries for Pechan.

He was guilty of violation by negligence, reporters thought.

The Rev. E. J. Eckhard, pastor of St. Boniface Catholic Church, called at 8 o'clock and remained with Fricker until the end. Father Eckhard later said Fricker had been baptized a Catholic, but had fallen away from the church, only to renew his faith when he was condemned to death.

A total of 180 passes had been issued for the hanging, and that many men gathered in the little jail yard where the gallows was.

The gallows had been erected outside Fricker's cell window and he had heard and seen the carpenters at work. Several hundred curious persons, without passes, gathered on the streets, but their view was obstructed by a canvas erected over a fence.

Those in the jail yard included State road police, Deputy Sheriffs and numerous reporters. They discussed the impending event.

One remarked that this would be the fifty-first hanging at which Philip Hanna, a wealthy farmer of Epsom, Ill., volunteered his services.

Hanna is now 51 years old.

His philosophy is: "Men must be hanged, let's do a good job."

NEW JERSEY RIOT LAW ATTACKED BY STRIKERS' COUNSEL

Attorney for the Rev. Norman Thomas, Calls It Figment of Somebody's Imagination.

GOVERNOR SAYS HE CANNOT INTERFERE

Has Not Power to Remove Sheriff Enforcing Old Statute, Advice of State's Attorney-General.

By the Associated Press.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., April 16.—Gov. A. Harry Moore today declared he had no power or authority to supersede the local and county authorities by taking jurisdiction in the Passaic textile strike area. The Governor issued a formal statement from his home, where he is ill, after receiving the opinion of Attorney-General Katzenbach on the request of the American Civil Liberties Union that the Governor take charge in the strike crisis.

The Attorney-General informed Gov. Moore that, under the rule of established cases, he has not the power to remove the Sheriff.

By the Associated Press. PASSAIC, N. J., April 16.—Leaders of the 10,000 textile strikers have made plans for a legal attack on the riot act, put into effect by the police. It was passed in 1864, before the existence of modern mills and labor unions.

Under riot act regulations, proclaimed Monday in Garfield, several of the strikers' leaders were arrested. Albert Weisbord, chairman of the workers' United Front Committee, one of those arrested, was held in default of $30,000 bail, on charges of inciting riots. He was given a habeas corpus hearing tomorrow.

The Rev. Norman Thomas, one-time Socialist candidate for Governor of New York, arrested in Garfield Wednesday while addressing a meeting of strikers, obtained release yesterday on $10,000 bail.

Robert Dunn, director of the American Civil Liberties Union, was released on the same bail.

Arguing for Thomas' release, John Larkin Hughes, counsel for the union, said: "There is no such thing as the riot law. It is the figment of somebody's imagination in this country."

The riot act provides that if "any persons to the number of 12 or more, being armed with clubs, guns, swords, or other weapons, or if any number of persons consisting of 30 or more shall be unlawfully, riotously or tumultuously assembled, any Justice of the Peace or Under Sheriff or Constable" can proclaim the act in effect. Those who resist the proclamation are declared guilty of a misdemeanor punishable by six months' imprisonment or $100 fine, or both. Those who continue together a hour after the act is read are liable to three years in jail and fine of $1,000 for committing a felony."

Picketing Group in Washington Fail to See President

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Children picketers who came to Washington to plead the cause of the textile strikers at Passaic, N. J., with President Coolidge, failed to see him yesterday and, in addition, they were forbidden by police to parade with placards around the White House grounds. Accepting events stoically, they returned to Passaic late in the day.

Under the leadership of Carl Trocola of the strikers' united front committee, the children, one boy and five girls, ranging in age from 4 to 12 years, descended upon the executive offices with placards setting forth the hardships imposed upon them by the strike. The youngsters were from two families and their mothers were among the five adults accompanying them.

On entering the White House grounds they were told by the police that the placards could not be displayed or photographs made of them under District of Columbia regulations.

Displaying the placards, the group moved slowly along Pennsylvania Avenue, with photographers recording the scene, but in a few minutes police stopped them, explaining that it was in violation of the child labor law here for children to engage in picketing. The decision of the authorities was accepted quietly, the placards were put away and the delegation finally left the vicinity.

intendent of Schools of the city as having said that parties "stimulated with synthetic gin" were exceptional, and that in general the moral standards of young people were better than they were 25 years ago.

Her own experience, said Mrs. Green, led her to believe that this was true.

"The worst thing that I know today," she said, "are the things that I heard in the common schools, a quarter of a century ago, from the lips of the big boys of 15 and 16 years of age."

Mrs. Green maintained that as a result of prohibition there was less juvenile delinquency in Cleveland, less drunkenness, fewer drunken men on the streets, much less work for the police courts to do, and fewer deaths from alcoholism. She said that she had not seen five drunken men on the streets in the last 18 months. Charity records, she added, indicated that drink as a cause of poverty was disappearing.

According to Mrs. Green's figures, 3150 persons were prosecuted for drunkenness in 1917 and 33,000 were "golden-ruled." She explained that "golden ruling" a drunken person meant taking him to a police station, sobering him up and turning him loose without prosecution, on his promise to try to do better in the future.

41,150 Cases Cut to 23,393.

The total of those prosecuted and "golden-ruled" in 1917 was 41,150, as compared with totals of 51,204 in 1918, 18,814 in 1923, 19,273 in 1924 and 23,393 in 1925.

She explained that she did not have the figures for 1919 to 1922 because that period was marked by turbulent strife between the Mayor and the Director of Public Safety and the records of the police were not to be trusted.

Reed produced a set of figures of his own, indicating that there were 6613 prosecutions for drunkenness in 1924, as compared with 5427 shown in Mrs. Green's figures. Reed also had the figures for the preceding years in Mrs. Green's tables.

"Were those years?" asked Reed. "So terrible that you think nobody told the truth about what was going on?"

Mrs. Green repeated that there was factional bickering and that the statistics on arrests were so uncertain that she would not care to swear to them.

"But the courts still ran?" "Oh, yes," she replied.

"And were there no records in the police department?" She repeated that they were inadequate. Reed remarked that the police must keep records, records, Reed also had the figures for the preceding years in Mrs. Green's tables.

"From your own figures," said Reed, "there were 3150 prosecutions for drunkenness in 1917 and 7719 in 1925. Does not that argue an increase in drunkenness?"

"No," replied the witness. "It shows more vigilance on the part of the police. They used to arrest only for disorderly conduct, and now they arrest a drunken person whenever they see one."

Mrs. Green said that she was the mother of two sons and four daughters, that none of them "told flasks," and that so far as she knew, none of their friends did.

Insists Ohio Is All Dry.

"And I am also a citizen of Ohio," she flashed at Reed, "and Ohio is dry. The last time we voted on the question the State went dry by more than 170,000. At a recent state election the only man who came through in the Republican primary without getting elected in the general election was a wet. Our State officers are all dry. The people of Ohio do not want modification; or that I am."

Reed asked who was the unfortunate Republican who was beaten. She replied that it was former Governor Harry L. Davis, running again for the executive office after an interim.

"Our people can't forget," said Mrs. Green. "They can't forget that we elected Davis on his promise to be dry, and that he was not as dry as he should have been."

"How much was he defeated by?" asked Reed.

"Several," said Mrs. Green earnestly. "It was terrible. The reply scored the biggest hit of the day.

Thoroughgoing work of moral persuasion and legal enforcement to give prohibition a chance to demonstrate its value was called for in a statement presented to the Senate by the Administrative Committee of the Federal Council of Churches.

The statement was read by Dr. William J. Haven of New York, secretary of the American Bible Society.

"If serious evils have sprung up since prohibition," the statement said, "they are far less than the evils which arose from the liquor traffic prior to the Eighteenth Amendment. The liquor traffic with the accompanying saloon was allied with political corruption, crime, gambling, prostitution, vice. It meant the wreckage of men and the degradation of families."

Law Not Foisted Upon Country.

The policy of prohibition was not adopted hastily nor was it foisted upon the country by a political minority. It was first voted in most of the states separately, and then nationally, because the people had become convinced that the liquor traffic was a social evil of such magnitude that it had to be destroyed.

The Eighteenth Amendment was made a part of the Constitution by the regular method which the founders of the repub-

devised with a view to making the amendment of the Constitution difficult rather than easy. Yet this amendment was adopted more promptly than any other change in the Constitution ever proposed.

The proposal to modify the Volstead act so as to permit the sale of 40% of the present amounts insurmountable objections. It would make enforcement more difficult. It would inevitably mean the return either of the saloon or something equally undesirable.

Bootlegging in stronger liquors would become more menacing because it would tend to operate through the places where the milder intoxicants were sold.

Government Control Inadequate.

"Moreover, there is no evidence to justify the contention that to permit wine and beer would reduce the consumption of ardent spirits. The teaching of experience is to the contrary.

"Methods of control short of prohibition, such as taxation, regulation and the governmentally controlled systems of some of the Canadian provinces, Norway and Sweden, have all proved inadequate to cope with the evil."

The one path of advance is for all good citizens personally to observe the law and to support the great enterprise, born of the idealism of the people, of completely ridding the nation of an demoralizing a business as the liquor traffic has always proved itself to be."

The committee which had charge of presenting the report included Dr. W. P. Franklin, chairman of New York, president of the Council of Churches; Dr. Charles S. MacFarland, general secretary of the Federal Council of Churches; Bishop James Cannon Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South; and Dr. Robert E. Speer of New York, secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church.

Dr. Haven was sworn and stood while he read the statement of the Federal Council of Churches. The statement described as "A delusion and a snare" the personal liberty plea of those who oppose prohibition.

"All law is infringement of personal liberty for the sake of the public welfare," the statement concluded.

Ides of Liberty Wrong.

"One of the blots upon our national character is due to the utterly naked assumption of personal freedom which results in personal law and defies authority. How else can we account for the swollen lists of divorces, robberies, murders, the notorious deeds of public spoliation and financial debauchery, the unlicensed allusions of the press and its exaltation of rogues by the publicity it gives their trial and execution, when they are brought within the reach of justice?"

No Increase in Use of Drugs.

"Then the lesson to be drawn from these figures," asserted Reed, "is that it is just as easy to get liquor now as in the days before prohibition because the number of deaths last year was almost equal to the highest peak of the prohibition days." How about the increase in the drug habit?" he asked.

"The average age in Germany is below 40," he said, "and Germany is the greatest beer-drinking nation in the world."

He then told the committee the prohibition law "is being better and better enforced, and should be given a chance for a generation."

Pan Merland, exhibited in France, gains six pounds a month.

ST. LOUIS MAIL BY AIR TO NEW YORK IN 15 HOURS
PARIS, April 16.—Paul Merland, 16 years old, who is being exhibited at fairs, claims to be the world's biggest boy of his age. He weighs 425 pounds, and is gaining steadily at the rate of six pounds a month.

There was nothing remarkable about the boy's size until he reached the age of nine, when he began to gain weight. He turned the scale at 260 pounds by the time he received his first communion. His height is only 5 feet 6 inches.

CARELESS DRIVER FINED $100
Barber Says Another Automobile Obstructed His Automobile.

Ransford Holtzapple, 57 years old, a barber, of 1493A Arlington avenue, today was fined $100 in Police Court on charge of carelessness driving. He drove his sedan through "street closed" signs and struck two city workmen, Mathias Pauliser and Timothy Manion.

He appealed from the fine. His defense was that another automobile obstructed his view of the street workers.

Jeweler Shot and Robbed of $7000
By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 16.—Four armed robbers shovled their way through a crowd at Grand and Madison streets today and shot and killed Flyer, a jeweler, twice, escaping with $7000 worth of jewels that he was carrying. In their haste the robbers overlooked additional jewels worth $18,000 which Flyer carried in an inside pocket. His wounds are not serious. The jeweler's store is equipped with a burglar siren and tear gas bombs but the robbers today waited until he had stepped out to the crowded sidewalk before attacking him.

London Theater to Broadcast Plays
By the Associated Press.

LONDON, April 16.—London plays will be given a theater where they will be given for broadcast and not for the benefit of audiences. At Covent Garden Opera House recently, an opera was performed and broadcast, there being no stage setting or costumes used. The public was admitted for a small amount which, however, defrayed the cost of the production.

talked calmly with them, never smiling, never crying, and the women went away after a while, saying good-by, but not kissing the doomed man. The nephew remained near all night.

Fricker's wife and children did not call.

During the long pinochle session, a prisoner in a nearby cell shouted, "Shut that window." Fricker, without a smile, replied: "I will not; do you guys all want to die in here?"

Old Pledges Support.

Postmaster Alt pledged the support of the Postoffice Department in developing the line and appealed to local business men to patronize R. M. Lambert, who was asked to speak at the time drew toward the scheduled departure hour, 4 p.m., said:

"I predict that this service will within a few years be extended to South America either across the Gulf of Mexico or through Mexico itself. The development of the airplane toward safety and reliability is growing far beyond the ability of those who are not acquainted with the aircraft industry."

He cut short his remarks to give the pilots time to warm up their engines. At 3:50 the Liberty engines of three of the ships were roaring and the planes were straining at their blocks.

"Old stuff, old stuff." I regret to say, our common career is at an end. You aren't news; you're narcotics and I cannot longer feel you upon a defenseless public. Now to fill the front page without you."

Taking Off of Planes.

It was exactly 4 o'clock when Lindbergh took off down the wind and roared into the northwest with a faint streamer of black smoke behind him. He was scheduled to pick up a load at Springfield. Five minutes later, after the handshaking and cheering had been completed, Love turned his ship down the wind and followed in Lindbergh's wake. A minute afterward Mr. C. R. Wassall, flying a plane for Peoria, a third load, took off after the other two.

In the first southbound trip completed by Lindbergh at 9:07 a. m. yesterday, no mail was brought from Chicago, as the plane from New York was delayed in Pennsylvania for a short time. Love was not waiting for it. Sacks were picked up at Peoria and Springfield, however. In the future, the pilots have been told to wait for delayed mail.

As has been told, the plane for Chicago is scheduled to leave here daily except Saturday and Sunday at 4 p. m., make stops at Spring-

New Service Makes Connection With Transcontinental Line at Chicago Ahead of Schedule.

THREE PLANES MAKE THE INITIAL TRIP

About 200 Persons Attend Dedication Exercises at St. Louis-Lambert Field as Craft Takes Off.

Aerial mail service between Chicago and St. Louis, which puts St. Louis within 15 hours of New York, was opened formally yesterday afternoon when three planes of the Robertson Aircraft Corporation, contract carriers, took off from Lambert-St. Louis Field.

The plane piloted by Philip R. Love, carrying approximately 5000 pieces of St. Louis mail, landed at the Maywood Field, Chicago, at 4:41 p. m., 21 minutes ahead of flying schedule, 1 minute behind Charles E. Lindbergh, chief pilot of the corporation, who, though carrying no St. Louis mail, picked up 1000 letters at Springfield.

At Peoria Love took aboard a crate of chickens probably the first to travel in this fashion.

Reaches New York on Schedule.

Connections were made with the transcontinental air service which left Chicago at 7:12 p. m. and arrived in New York at 8:45 a. m. today. At 7 o'clock the mail was in the postoffice, and at 8 a. m. was distributed in the first delivery.

The four DH-4s to be used by the aircraft corporation in the service to Chicago were on the line yesterday in front of the hangars when the dedication ceremonies were begun at 3 p. m. They have been remodeled for mail work and can carry 600 pounds at a speed of 115 miles an hour. They had silver wings and maroon messages on which are painted in white letters the words "U. S. Air Mail."

There were about 200 persons present of the dedication which opened when Myrtle Lambert, 13, the only daughter of Maj. Albert Bond Lambert christened the plane of Charles E. Lindbergh, chief pilot of the Robertson Corporation.

Plane Christened "St. Louis."

"I christen you St. Louis," she said. "May your wings never be clipped." And while the crowd applauded and motion picture cameras clicked, she strewed flowers upon the wings of the plane.

Carl F. G. Meyer, president of the Chamber of Commerce, was master of ceremonies and opened by stressing the importance of the air mail in giving St. Louis overnight mail service to New York.

He declared the success of the route was dependent upon the patronage given it by business houses, and pointed out that it should be used not only for its speed, but for the greater regularity and safety for mail which aerial service affords as compared with rail service.

Old Pledges Support.

I must not seem a bit dictatorial, dictatorial, that's right. Oh! it would cause a din if we could grow more pectoral That's all you need to write an editorial, editorial tonight.

Similar burlesques were made upon the woman's page with its reflected menu care of baby, cure for indigestion. The radio, too, which the home-made set on international night, picking up Russia to Tokyo, was signing off that local stations had been broadcasting foreign-flavored home talent programs. The Ballot Box Review, a four-page newspaper, contributed other satires.

The chief speaker was David Lawrence Washington, correspondent and editor of the United States Daily, a new newspaper devoted exclusively to the affairs of Government. Leon Reed of the St. Louis Star and Casper S. Yost, editor of the editorial page of the Globe-Democrat briefly welcomed the visitors. A similar greeting from George S. Johns, editor of the editorial page of the Post-Dispatch, was read. Miss Ruth Boyle of Good Housekeeping and Mrs. Genevieve Parkhurst of Pictorial Review spoke also. It was stated that representatives of 20 newspapers in other cities were present.

Enter the Editor. "What's the layout for today? Same old gang, I see. I hope your copy is up to standard." Bandit, Movie Star, etc., representing as I do the best interests.

Seven Pages of Record-Breaking Values to Make This the Greatest Day in Our History

VANDERVOORT'S has brought to the public of St. Louis many wonderful merchandise offerings during the past 76 years, but this presentation of super-values is planned to surpass in every way anything we have ever done before.

Greater than any merchandise offering during the Diamond Jubilee of a year ago, it is without a doubt the outstanding value-giving occasion of ALL QUALITY merchandise to which St. Louisans have been invited this year.

Over a thousand separate items, many not offered before, and many not advertised, will be displayed throughout the store Saturday.

Read the following pages and remember that there are as many more items not advertised as you see here, all priced as low as QUALITY merchandise can be sold, and you have some idea of the magnitude of this tremendous opportunity.

Plan to come and bring the entire family—extraordinary values await every member of the household.

THE 'COLONEL' AT GATE

JOHN HICKEY.

RAILROAD WORKER

John Hickey, 78, the "Colonel" at Gate 16, Was Oldest Terminal Employee.

John Hickey, 78 years old, known to thousands of travelers as "Colonel," the oldest employee of the Terminal Railroad Association, died yesterday afternoon at St. Mary's Infirmary, following an amputation of the left leg, made in an effort to save his life. He was suffering from diabetes, and had been ill since January.

The "Colonel" had been in charge of Gate 16 at Union Station since that structure was built in 1894. He began railroad work at the age of 16, at the Missouri Pacific passenger depot at Seventh and Poplar streets. In 1875, when the Union Depot at Twelfth and Poplar was opened, he began working in the baggage department there. Hickey took tickets, he used to remark, before there were gates in St. Louis, where he could collect them.

For 56 years prior to 1919, the "Colonel" had worked seven days a week, with one week vacation yearly, and missed only six weeks of work during that time.

Refused to Retire.
On a cold day in November, 1921, Henry Miller, president of the Terminal, happened to notice the old "Colonel" at his post. Miller arranged to have him take a five months' vacation with full pay, and told him to think over the advisability of retiring with a pension. But at the expiration of the five months, Hickey came back to work, with the statement that all his old friends were dead, and he didn't know how to loaf. "I might just as well keep working," Hickey said. There is no record of any complaint against Hickey during all the years of his service.

The last few years Hickey had been unable to change the training signs, and a younger man mounted the ladder to do it for him. When friends visited him a month ago, Hickey said, "I'm not complaining. My feet carried me 50 years and more, and this is the first time they've been to the shop."

Gate 16 is nearest the Station Master's booth, and conveniently located both as to the yard and the station. Hickey, therefore, was subjected to an especially large number of questions. He was generally put in charge of the private cars, and in this way became known to many prominent visitors.

Two experiences which Hickey loved to relate were those of a chat with Gen. Grant, and of the man whose dress came unhooked.

"Grant came here with his family after the Civil War," Hickey would say. "They visited Grant's farm, and couldn't catch a train out of St. Louis until evening; so the family put up at the Southern Hotel. But Grant stayed around the old station at Seventh and Poplar streets until train-time, talking to the boss and me. He never stopped smoking."

The anecdote of the unhooked dress concerned a solitary woman who looked frantically about for someone respectable to ask to button her up the back. She saw the "Colonel" and he did the honors.

Refuses to Jail Violators.
CHICAGO, April 15.—Federal Judge J. H. Wilkerson declined to pass a jail sentence today on Richard C. Mazer and Charles Eissmann, former officials of the Fish Fans Club. In fining them $500 and $200, respectively, for violation of the prohibition law, Judge Wilkerson said he would be violating the law of equal justice if he gave them jail sentences while others who are equally guilty have not been prosecuted.ELECTRIC WASHER

Origin and Growth of Strike Of Textile Workers at Passaic

Ten Per Cent Cut in Wages, Given as Basic Cause; Leader Is Harvard Law Graduate.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 16.—What has become known as the Passaic strike, though it includes the textile industry in the whole section around Passaic, began, so far as the surprised public was concerned, at 10:15 a. m. Jan. 25, when from the doors of the Botany Worsted Mills in Passaic suddenly poured a large part of the 4500 employees who normally were quietly working at that hour at the buzzing and clacking looms and spindles.

The strike of course had begun before that. Albert Weisbord, its organizer, says it began in Lawrence, Mass., a year ago, when the United Front Committee was organized. Weisbord came to Passaic shortly after the strike in the Hillcrest silk mills, which he is said to have organized.

Weisbord is a graduate of Harvard law school, a Phi Beta Kappa, and is said to be the son of a retired manufacturer. He says he studied law solely to learn the tricks of the bosses, and has given his entire time to industrial problems.

The background of the strike is a confused pattern of feuds between the great textile concerns, complicated financial situations, and, according to one Passaic business man, the immigration policy of the nation.

Business Depression.

"Before quota restrictions," he said, "the mills could get immigrant labor for $9 or $10 a week. It took immigrants at least five years to 'come to' and demand better wages, and by that time manufacturers had obtained a new supply of workers from foreign countries."

Conditions in the New Jersey textile fields had attracted the attention of students of social problems. Miss Justice Wise, daughter of Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, worked in the mills under an assumed name for some weeks last year and charged that conditions under which the workers lived were bad, that the mills were honest, combined with espionage, and that the Manufacturers' Council kept a blacklist—which the mill owners denied.

For two years the textile business has been suffering depression. The mills were running on part schedule before the strike, and most of them made a 10 per cent wage cut last September. The Botany mills in Passaic and the Garfield Worsted Mills in Garfield, controlled by the same company, were the first to announce the cut.

According to manufacturers, shortly before the operatives left their machines in the Botany mills in Passaic on Jan. 25, a committee came to the management asking for reinstatement of the wage cut, and without waiting for discussion left the office and went through the building, throwing off switches and calling the workers out.

Intimidation Charged.

In the following days the strikers from the Botany mills picketed one mill after another and the Garfield Worsted Mills in Passaic. The Botany Worsted Spinning Co., the General Mills and the New Jersey Spinning Co. successively lost most of their operatives.

The Fersmann & Hoffmann Co. had not made the 10 per cent cut, and their workers, they assert, refused to leave until intimidation reached the point where they were obliged to do so, to shut down for the protection of employees.

The demands of the strikers were retroactive payment of the 10 per cent wage cut made by some of the mills in September; 10 per cent increase rate existing before the cut; time and a half for overtime; no discrimination against union members; recognition of the union; a 64-hour week and sanitary working conditions.

Settlement Effort Failed.

Most of the mills did not shut down entirely and the strikers resorted to "mass picketing," streaming in hundreds and even thousands from plant to plant, while the police tried to stop them. Clashes between strikers and police soon assumed the proportions of a war. Police forces of Passaic, Garfield and Clifton were increased; Mayor William A. Burke of Clifton threatened martial law; many arrests were made; and something like panic seized the community.

Mounted and motor cycle police charged crowds, clubs and finally tear gas were used, and reporters and news photographers were beaten and 4500 were of cameras smashed to fragments.

Five weeks after the strike had begun, the first attempt to bring about a settlement, made through a citizens' committee, failed when strike leaders told Mayor John H. McGuire the mills must recognize the right of employees to collective bargaining before they would return. The Mayor said he was informed the mill owners would not consent to any such demand.

Over Klan Quits Town

JOHN SMITH
LEADER OF K. K. K.
WAR LEAVES HERRIN

John Smith Sells Garage Where Fighting Occurred Tuesday—Move for Peace On.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
HERRIN, Ill., April 16.—John Smith, who owned the garage where a fight between Ku Klux Klan and anti-Klan forces occurred here Tuesday, has sold out and left Herrin. Seven men were killed in his garage in August, 1921.

For nearly three years Smith has been one of the central figures in the warfare, but his garage, which was riddled with bullets Tuesday, was sold yesterday to two Herrin automobile and accessory dealers.

town in an automobile.

The Coroner's inquest into the bouts of six men who were killed Tuesday was late in getting under way today. Unless plans are changed the jury will adjourn this afternoon to attend the funeral of the three slain Klansmen.

Troops will be stationed near the Christian Church tomorrow when the funeral of Ben and Mack Sizemore and Harland Ford is held.

The funeral of Noble Weaver, one of the slain anti-Klanists, will be held to day at Herenton. His servants will be in charge of the American Legion.

The body of Aurb Treadway, another slain anti-Klanist, has been taken to Paragould, Ark., for burial.

Priliminary steps were taken yesterday towards an armistice between the Klan and anti-Klan factions whose warfare here has resulted in 19 deaths.

Those who can contribute to the armistice and who are avowed or acknowledged leaders of one or other faction are John Ford, former Chief of Police, whose brother was killed Tuesday. The Rev. P.
R. Glotfelty, Methodist Minister, and the Rev. J. E. Story, of the First Christian Church.

On the other side are the Shelton brothers, Carl, Earl and Ben-nard, who conduct a roadhouse north of the city; Sheriff Galligan and City Judge Bowen.

ago he had been told that several recent burglaries had been attributed to a young man who stuttered, arrested the youth, who identified himself as Bert Graham, 19 years old, 3828 Olive street.

After the detectives had found a revolver and a considerable amount of jewelry in his room, the prisoner admitted committing five robberies. He said he entered each of the apartments he robbed after failing to receive a response to knocks on the door.

The prisoner told police he had given some of the stolen jewelry to a woman whom he intended to marry. The woman, 38 years old, and a divorcee, said she did not know the jewelry was stolen and denied any thought of marrying Graham.

dead when a physician arrived. Her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Dorn of 2648A Oregon home, were with her.

Patrolman Accidentally Shot.

Probationary Patrolman Jacob
Sinclair, 25 years old, of 3725A
North Newstead avenue, was shot accidentally through the left hand early today. His revolver was discharged as he stumbled in starting a chase after a Negro who fled the approach of Sinclair and Pa-troman Dalton in front of 4218 Enright avenue. Dalton captured the man a half block away, and was told he had fled because he mistook the policemen for robbers.

CHIEF BARRIER TO DEAL ON FRENCH DEBT REMOVED

France Will Not Insist on Safety Clause, It Is Understood—General Plan Outlined.

Special Cable to Post-Dispatch and New York World.

Copyright 1926 by the Press and Pulitzer Publishing Co., New York World and Post-Dispatch.

PARIS, April 16.—An understanding has been reached over the French war debt between the American Secretary of the Treasury and French Ambassador Berger, it is intimated here. The exact details, especially with respect to payments, are unsettled, but a basis has been arrived at which is expected to avoid most of the difficulties upon which former Finance Minister Caillaux's negotiations broke.

One of these difficulties—the safeguard clause by which France could cease payments if they proved too heavy—is no longer a menace to the negotiations, it is understood. The French have decided it is unwise to be too careful about leaving a way out of payments in case it becomes impossible to continue them.

Low Payments at Start.

The reason for the difficulty in arriving at such a safeguard was that Germany might default under the Dawes plan and France would be compelled to go on paying while not collecting from Germany. It is now considered wiser to make a firm agreement with America on the assumption that Germany will go on paying, it being somehow expressed in the phraseology of the settlement that the continuity of payments is dependent upon the fulfillment of other international obligations.

This would be sufficient to tranquilize the French public.

It is difficult point passes. It is believed possible to begin with low payments, hardly more than the annual payments of $20,000,000 France is now making as interest on the purchase of American war material after the war. The increase would be progressive over 62 years, letting the next generation carry the heaviest load.

Early Settlement Expected.

As soon as the Italian debt settlement is ratified by the American Senate, it is anticipated that a settlement of the French indebtedness will come rapidly. Delays over the Italian settlement keep the French in suspense. Finance Minister Peret has been arranged to be waiting for the end of the French Senate's discussion of the budget before going to London to talk with Winston Churchill, Chancellor of the Exchequer, on the debt to England, but he really is waiting for ratification of the Italian agreement by the American Senate.

Peret had a delicate task facing him in preparing the British for low payments during the first years—payments much lower than those the British are making to the United States. But if the American settlement goes through, negotiations with the British will be reopened.

Peret Expected to Come to U. S. After London Negotiations.

PARIS, April 16.—M. Peret, French Minister of Finance, according to reliable information, is expected to cross the Atlantic and finish up the war debt settlement with the United States after the negotiations at London.

M. Peret will have a few weeks at his disposal in May and June while Parliament is adjourned, and persons close to him say he means to use them to get the inter-salaried debts finally off the docket. The Finance Minister is convinced that nothing effective can be done toward stabilizing the franc until the debts are out of the way.

ARDENT SWAIN AND OFFICERS SHOOT IT OUT AT JOPLIN, MO.

Other Buzzard Sought for Arrest for Writing Threatening Note to Woman.

JOPLIN, Mo., April 16.—Othel Buzzard, 23 years old, probably was fatally wounded and Charles McDonald, Deputy United States Marshal, was shot in his left hand and side in a pistol fight on the streets here last night. Buzzard came to Joplin to meet Miss Ruth Davis, young school teacher, who it is said, had been threatened with death if she failed to appear at a place designated by him. The threats, as detailed in a letter, were outlined in a Federal warrant which McDonald was armed, charging Buzzard with sending a threatening letter through the mail.

McDonald, and not the girl, met Buzzard. Accompanying McDonald was Ward Coffman, policeman. Buzzard opened fire with a revolver. The first shot struck McDonald in the arm, shattering a bone and penetrating his left side. Despite his wound, McDonald drew his revolver and returned the fire. One of Buzzard's bullets also grazed Coffman's side. Coffman opened fire and Buzzard went down while bystanders scurried for cover. Three shots took effect in Buzzard's body.

Miss Davis taught school at Moberly, Mo., before Buzzard lived there. She quit her position to get away from him, she told the officers.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN brought relief in 3 weeks!

Read this remarkable testimonial to the power of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN over constipation: "I prize your ALL-BRAN. I have been using it three weeks. I have tried many things, but could never get any relief—but since using your bran I can truthfully say that I am entirely cured and feel like a new man."

Yours truly,

THOMAS A. HENLEY, JR.

GERMANY STANDS BY OLD POLICY ON LEAGUE COUNCIL

Note to Geneva Indicates She Still Opposes Other Nations as New Permanent Members.

SPAIN AND BRAZIL ALSO UNCHANGED

Japan Indicates She Again Will Raise Issues of Emigration and Tariff Inequalities.

By ALBIN E. JOHNSON,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World. Copyright 1926 by the Press and Publishing Co. (New York World and Post-Dispatch.)

GENEVA, April 16.—Germany, while accepting the League of Nations' invitation to participate in the sessions of the council Reorganization Committee, beginning here on May 10, has made it clear to the allied nations that she maintains her prerogative of withdrawing her application for membership as a counterbalance to the possible veto by Council members of her demand for an exclusive new permanent seat.

This was the interpretation placed on the communication from the Wilhelmstrasse received here yesterday.

Germany's reply has brought the realization that her policy, as announced when her delegates arrived for the March Assembly, has not materially changed; that she insists upon being the sole nation admitted to the Council, and that she have the privilege of acquainting herself with the workings of the Council before agreeing to changes in its permanent personnel.

This position in effect gives the Germans equality with permanent Council members, which the Berlin Government contends is a vital feature of the Locarno pacts.

Delegate's Hands Tied.
The hands of the German delegate will be tied by his Government's stand, and this will make the Reorganization Committee's deliberations informal and tentative. The German representative probably will be Dr. Gauss, the juridical expert of the Foreign Office.

Germany's position in September inevitably will be as it was in March, with additional complications arising from new claims by other members. According to the League officials, many proposed compromises probably will fall flat, although the committee will submit both majority and minority reports to the June Council, which will circulate the findings among League members.

The recent statements made by Paul Boncour at Warsaw, in which he said that France is supporting Poland's claim for a permanent Council seat and will do so during the special committee and assembly meetings, is causing apprehension here.

Neither Spain nor Brazil is abating her claim or threat of withdrawal, while the Swiss and Scandinavians are converging with the British toward the German viewpoint.

Japanese Program.
The certainty of a resumption of the struggle over Council seats in September is having its effect on the work of the League especially on disarmament and economic power projects. The Japanese officially have divulged their program regarding these and have indicated they again will raise the under-tension issue, elimination of inequalities in customs tariffs, and more equitable distribution of raw materials.

Concerning disarmament, fears are expressed that Poland, Romania and the Baltic States, bolstered by the French, will demand a postponement of the preparatory committee's sessions again, but it is doubtful if France again can assume responsibility for delay.

The official text of the concluding paragraph of Foreign Minister Stresemann's note to the League follows:

"I take the liberty of pointing out that the German representative, in view of the fact that Germany is not a member of the League, will inevitably be in a different position in the proceedings of the commission than representatives of the other Powers concerned."

"Not only must this special position of Germany be taken into account by the German representative, it also makes it necessary to state expressly that participation by this representative in the deliberations of the committee cannot affect the freedom of decision of the German Government as regards Germany's entry into the League."

THE MAYOR, THE MOON AND A BARKING DOG

Miller Pays Respects to His Foes and Says He Has Proved He Is Boss.

Mayor Miller, speaking last night at the first anniversary of the Men's Christian Legion at the Fourth Christian Church, Blair and Penrose avenues, referred only indirectly to the recall movement which was started in connection with the ousting of Director of Public Utilities Wall from office.
The Mayor's speech dealt principally with the subject of the inattention of the average citizen to the recall politics and government.

"I have had a difficult time in convincing some people that I am Mayor," he said. "When I was elected they started a court proceeding. Even now, more than a year later, there is little group which isn't convinced about it.

The Barking Dog.

"They remind me of a little dog a friend of mine had. It had a habit of barking and barking at the bright shining moon, but the more it barked the brighter the old moon kept shining.

"You hear people say that government is rotten. Some of it is, but crooked as it may be it is five times as good as the people deserve. Politics has been government always from Jesus Christ on down.

"Politics is a science through which government is managed.
Next to being a minister I would rather be a politician than anything else. It is a shame that decent and respectable people are not occupied in politics more than they are.

"There are reasons why government is no better than it is. There is not the same incentive for the man in public office that there is for the man in private business.
The pay is inadequate. With the change of an administration those who have worked hard are taken out and their places filled by new stockholders.

He's the Boss.

"As I have said, I have had considerable trouble convincing some people I am Mayor, but I think that in a few months I have proved that I am the boss. I will not say that all the honest people voted for me but I will say that every crook did not vote for me.

"You can't have good government unless the people take an interest in government. To get honesty from government, the people must put some honesty into it. The Roman Empire was just as good as the government we have. Why was it destroyed? Because the people got so ornery that they just decided to destroy it."

SOVIET LOOKS TO AMERICA TO TAP RUSSIAN RESOURCES

M. Joffe Says Capital and Energy Give U. S. Investors Preference in Concessions.

By the Associated Press.

MOSCOW, April 18.—The United States, with its ready liquid gold and colossal energy, is the only nation which is capable of tapping the immense, untouched wealth that is teeming in Russia, in the opinion of Adolph Joffe, chief of the Soviet Government Concession Commission.

M. Joffe, in an interview said that definite progress has been made especially of late, foreign offers beginning to lose their purely speculative aspect and assuming more solid proportions.

"It still seems the real big concession work awaits America alone," M. Joffe said. "The difference between Europe and America is that Europe must first sell its ready merchandise, make a profit and then invest in concessions, while America has liquid cash augmented by colossal energy and technical skill. The European offers are acceptable, but the America offers are preferred."

M. Joffe said that lack of recognition by the Soviet Government by the United States would not decrease the safety of any American concessionnaire's rights. Each concession charge, he said, was a special law and after a concession had been granted the status of an American holder would be the same as that of a Frenchman, an Englishman or a German, Discussing profits, M. Joffe said:

"There is scarcely a more profitable business than a concession in Soviet Russia. We don't limit profits. We tax excess and, therefore, are vitally interested in the concessionnaire's success. Our country offers a vast field for the most profitable application of American capital and energy."

Attack by U. S. Ship Dented.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—
Charges that the Canadian schooner "Eastwood" was fired upon by the Coast Guard Cutter Seneca Feb. 15 have been found by the Treasury to be without foundation.

The investigation was made upon an inquiry by the British Embassy after the Eastwood's captain and crew members had filed affidavits with Canadian authorities asserting that the Seneca had fired on their ship and hit it many times.
In announcing its findings, the State Department said it had information showing that for more than a year the Eastwood had hovered off the coast with the obvious intention of landing liquor in the United States. It added that if the Eastwood was fired upon, the attack probably had been made by a rival liquor craft.

TITLES EMBODIED IN NAMES

"Fraulein Baron" or "Herr Countess" to Be Heard in Germany.
By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, April 16.—Fraulein Baron—or Herr Countess von and other similar paradoxically sounding names henceforth will be no uncommon occurrence in Germany.

The law decrees that as an aristocracy has ceased to prevail in Germany, all aristocratic designations of names are to be accepted as component parts of proper names, irrespective of the bearer's sex. Consequently, the Government record office has decided rigorously to enforce the stabilization, or petrification, as it were, of all such aristocratic designations. Thereby the illegitimate or adopted child of an aristocratic parent will be forced to take the title of Baron or—latter's name, even though it may not conform with the sex of the child, as, for instance, Herr George, Duchess of— or Fraulein General, Baron of—

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, April 16.—Theft of jewels valued at $40,000 from the home of Miss Muriel Dundas, a healthy society woman, has been

The Citizens' Bond Issue Supervisory Committee yesterday afternoon took action in an effort to pull the $87,000,000 bond issue from a friend of the City Councilor and the Board of Aldermen to submit at the November election amendments to the City Charter to make possible a speeding up of condemnation of the private property needed for the projects.

The action of the committee was a result of a suggestion re cently published in the Post-Di patch, in which a former State offi cial urged that a State constitutio

al amendment be submitted to pro vide a special condemnation court from which there would be no ap peal, and which, it was suggested, would do away with long court delays.

Three Changes Proposed.

A week ago the committee asked

Associate City Counselor Senn, in charge of condemnations, to examine the law and appear with recom mendations. As a result of his appearance yesterday, the charter amendments will be proposed.

They will provide for three changes:

First. The establishment of a municipal title examining bureau to investigate titles of all prop erty to be taken for public pur poses.

Second. Authorizing the con demnation by a general descrip tion of the property in the ag gregate, instead of the present requirement that the city's peti tion be put in detail and descrip tion of each part to be taken.

Third. That a permanent Con demnation Committee of three members be created to sit con tinuously, the members to be paid salaries sufficient to obtain capable men who would devote their full time to the work. This would replace the political com missions appointed under the present law, which requires a separate commission for each project.

Objections to Court.

Senn opposed the proposal for a condemnation court from which there would be no appeal, urging that there were legal difficulties which would render such a court of doubtful value. He did not believe a property owner could be deprived of his property by the review of the supreme Court.

He expressed the opinion that most of the delay was due to the $5 a day limit placed by the Char ter as the salary of Commissioners.

This he said, was not sufficient to get commissioners to devote more than two hours a day once or twice a week to the work.

Senn suggested that there might be some opposition to the plan from some Circuit Judges, as they would deprive the judges of about the only patronage they have—the appointment of commissioners in condemnation cases. The judges, however, would appoint the three commissioners, and would have the power to appoint a second com mission of three if the volume of work was too great for one com mission.

Cause of the Delay.

Senn told the Supervisory Com mittee yesterday that much delay had been encountered in the ex amination of titles of property, the work having been done by title ex amining firms. In some instances he said, the work for the city had been set aside when private work was heavy, and that in a number of instances there had been delays of many months in obtaining the titles.

The Supervisory Committee

unanimously adopted the resolu tion asking the Mayor, City Coun selor and Board of Aldermen to prepare and submit the proposed

Charter amendments at the elec tion next November, that they might be put into effect as quickly as possible.

HARVEY LOST PARIS POST AND BRANDEIS MISSED CABINETNew Jersey Editor, Long Friend of Late President, Reveals Inside Facts of Administration—Daniels Wanted Postal Place.By CHARLES G. ROSS, Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—How George Harvey lost an ambassadorship to France through an article criticizing the President in the early days of the Wilson administration; how Louis Brandeis, now an Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court, was kept out of the first Wilson Cabinet by the influence of organized wealth; how Josephus Daniels came to be picked as Secretary of the Navy—these are some of the bits of inside history related in "The Political Education of Woodrow Wilson," a book by James Kerney, editor of the Trenton (N. J.) Times, published today by the Century company.

Kerney's book derives authority from a friendship with the late President that remained unbroken to the end. One of Wilson's letters quoted in the book speaks of the two as having been "within sight of each other for so long."

During the war, the President sent him to Paris, ostensibly as chief of the Committee on Public Information, but actually as a confidential observer for the administration. Only a few weeks before Wilson's death, when the doors of the ex-President's S street house were closed to nearly all his former intimates, Kerney was received there as an old friend and accorded the privilege of hearing his candid views on a variety of domestic and international subjects.

Kerney's book derives authority from a friendship with the late President that remained unbroken to the end. One of Wilson's letters quoted in the book speaks of the two as having been "within sight of each other for so long."

The story of the picking of the first Wilson Cabinet is told with a wealth of intimate and illuminating detail. Of Josephus Daniels, it is said that he was chosen for Secretary of the Navy in the "dim old railroad station at Trenton." His ultimate selection, however, was due to the persistence of Frank J. Pence, Washington correspondent for Daniels' Raleigh newspaper. Pence had the tenacious and unwavering loyalty of Tumulty, who made possible a speeding up of the Wilson's death. House, without whose last word of approval none could enter that first Cabinet, was not unfriendly to Daniels. But he had numerous candidates of his own to place, and, besides, he was not given to fighting it out once the Wilson job seemed set.

Daniels wanted to be Postmaster-General, but House felt that he did not measure up to the place. Subsequently the President was pleasantly surprised at the ability and sterling qualities of Daniels and was enthusiastic over his handling of the Navy Department during the war. Pence was there after in high favor.

The author discloses that it was Tumulty who, near the end of Wilson's second term, chose Joshua W. Alexander of Missouri to be Secretary of the Department of Commerce after the resignation of William C. Redfield.

Concerning another Cabinet member accredited to Missouri, Kerney writes:

"David Franklin Houston, of Missouri, but formerly of Texas, owed much to the irrepressible House. Wilson regarded Houston, who served first as Secretary of Agriculture and later as Secretary of the Treasury, as easily the best man in the Cabinet and the best fitted for the presidency among his associates. Houston wrote the Wilson veto of the budget bill passed by Congress, as well as several of the other Wilson's ideas."

Houston and House.

The claim of potency for the opposition to the World Court as a factor in the primaries is gradually disappearing. The result is now attributed to the strife for ward control in Chicago and to the representation of the down-state rural population over the inaction of the Coolidge administration in the matter of the World Court.

The inactivity of the World Court alibi of the McKinley people was brought out by Senator Swanson (Dem.) of Virginia, who led the fight for the World Court resolution and is author of the reservations that accompany it.

It is difficult for anyone to understand or to unravel the intricacies of the Republican primaries in Illinois," said Swanson. "The anti-Court people claim it as a victory for them. The wets also claim it as a victory for them."

Dealing with the "unloved side" of Wilson, the author comments more than once on his ruthless discrediting of men who had served him. The case of Tumulty, of course, is noted, though the author recalls that in one of his talks with Wilson shortly before his death, the former President commended Tumulty highly and suggested that he would make a fine Senator from New Jersey. This was after his personal break with Tumulty.

In one of his numerous side-lights on the Wilson character, Kerney relates that Wilson was much amused by the formal visits of accredited diplomats to the White House.

"I remember," he writes, "that Bryce came as British Ambassador, and how Wilson later told some of us that after the reading of the set speeches prepared by their respective State departments, he had taken Bryce into a corner with the remark, 'Now, Bryce, let's have a comfortable chat to the White House.' Bryce had a frank and Harvey lost an ambassadorship to France through an article criticizing the President in the early days of the Wilson administration; how Louis Brandeis, now an Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court, was kept out of the first Wilson Cabinet by the influence of organized wealth; how Josephus Daniels came to be picked as Secretary of the Navy—these are some of the bits of inside history related in "The Political Education of Woodrow Wilson," a book by James Kerney, editor of the Trenton (N. THE engagement of Miss Mary Denman Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McLure Clark of 15 Hortense place, and Guy de Germiny of Florence, Italy, was announced Saturday by Mr. and Mrs. Clark at a dinner given at their villa in Florence, which they have occupied for two months following a lengthy stay in Paris.

The occasion of the party was the twenty-fifth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Clark.

Miss Clark met her fiance last fall in Paris while visiting her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Charles de Gheest, soon after the arrival of the Clark family abroad, and they renewed their acquaintance in Florence where the prospective bridegroom's parents have a large estate. They will return to Paris June 1 and the marriage will take place June 23.

Miss Clark was educated at the Sacred Heart Convent, Eden Hall in Philadelphia and a French school in the East. She made her debut five years ago at the St. Louis Club and became a member of the Junior League and the Imperial. Since that time she has spent much of her time in travel. Miss Clark is a niece of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Scullin, and is related to many of the prominent early St. Louisans, including the Papins. She is a cousin of Mrs. Alex H. Sullivan and Mrs. Henry Prentiss Green.

Details of the wedding have not reached St. Louis, but the guests will include Mr. and Mrs. de Gheest, their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Henri de Gheest, the latter formerly the Princess Murat. Following the ceremony, Mme. de Germiny and his bride will make their home in Florence. Mr. and Mrs. Clark will return to America and spend the summer at Hot Springs, Va.

DOUBLE BILL DRAWS LARGEST AUDIENCE OF WEEK TO OPERA

Mr. Intrante sang the role of Alito in the Mascagni work, and of Silvio in Leoncavallo's melodic drama. Mr. Ghirardini was the tenor.

MARY BIBLE GIVEN TO YALE

Melk Copy of Gutenberg Volume Gift of Mrs. E. S. Harkness

Gift to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 16.—The Melk copy of the Gutenberg Bible, recently sold at auction in New York, has been presented to Yale Library by Mrs. Edward S. Harkness of New York City, in memory of Mrs. Stephen V. Harkness. President James R. Angell of Yale said possession of the priceless treasure puts the prestige of the Yale Library beyond challenge.

The Bible was published in 1455 and was the first book printed from movable type. The copy presented to Yale is one of 42 known, of which only 25 are complete. There are eight others copied in the United States, and one odd volume. It takes its name from a town of less than 2000 inhabitants in lower Austria. There is a Benedictine monastery. It remained from its publication until its recent purchase from the monks by a British bookseller and transportation to America. The first page bears the name of the monastery, written in a seventeenth century hand. The Bible is the Vulgate Text of St. Jerome. This version was the standard of Christendom for 1000 years. It will be placed in the rare book room of the new Sterling Memorial Library, when that structure is completed.

PROSPERITY IN THE SOUTH.

From the Greenville, S. C., Pliedmont.

PERMANENT prosperity has come to the South, says the Southern Railway. The new era of growth in agriculture, trade and industry in the South and the development of its wealth of natural resources and potential water power, should promote a steadily increasing volume of traffic. It is estimated that within the next five to eight years Southern will be moving a yearly volume of freight equivalent to carrying 9,000,000,000 tons a distance of one mile. This would represent an increase of 12% per cent over the volume of approximately 8,000,000,000 ton miles carried in 1925.

THE FRANC THERMOMETER.

From the Louisville Courier-Journal.

THE French franc has taken another tumble, going to almost the lowest point since the war. It was due, say the French, to misunderstanding in other countries of the division between the Senate and the Chamber of Deputies on the revenue measures. They admit, however, that the two houses are antithetical on the proposition. So there's little misunderstanding. What is generally understood is that politics has played hell with the financial situation of France, and the franc rises or falls as the conditions become better or worse.

FIVE AUTO DRIVERS WIN APPEALS FROM WORKHOUSE TERM

Only One Sentence Justified, Judge Gayer Rules and Arranges $1 a Day Parole for Defendant.

Five men who had received fines and workhouse sentences in Police Court for traffic violations, appealed to Judge Gayer in the Court of Criminal Correction, yesterday, with complete success as far as avoiding the workhouse was concerned. Only one of the workhouse sentences pronounced in Police Court was justified by the evidence presented to him, Judge Gayer ruled.

Regarding that defendant, Edward G. Baisch, 7448 Gravois avenue, Judge Gayer expressed the intention of parole, after he had sustained a $500 fine and 90-day workhouse sentence, assessed previously by Judge Gayer. Baisch was charged with driving while intoxicated and careless driving. A $50 fine on the latter charge was dismissed yesterday, and if Baisch agrees to making a daily trip to the parole office in the Municipal Courts Building, to pay the $500 fine in installments of $1 a day, he will escape the workhouse.

A $100 fine and 90-day sentence to the workhouse, appealed by Earl Clark, 1408 Deer street, was reduced to $10. Clark had been charged with careless driving by Mrs. Lillian Pantenauer, 4145 Evans avenue, who alleged that Clark's machine had struck her 8-year-old daughter, Julia, as she stood near the curbings at Taylor and Evans avenue last February. Another witness and Clark testified that the child had run into the side of the machine, which was slowly making a turn at that corner.

Joseph Costa, a butcher and grocer of East St. Louis, had been fined $100 for driving while intoxicated, and also assessed $100 and 10 days in the workhouse for careless driving. The prosecuting witness, with whose machine Costa's car had collided, and a police officer testified that Costa had been drinking. Judge Gayer dismissed the careless driving charge, but doubled the $100 fine for driving while intoxicated.

Assaults Lack of Evidence.

When neither the prosecuting witness nor the defendant who made the arrest of Nick Kappnick, 1291 South Thirteenth street, was able to testify that the defendant was intoxicated, on Jan. 30, when his automobile collided with another machine, Judge Gayer dismissed fines aggregating $200 and a sentence of 290 days in the workhouse, which had been assessed by Police Judge Rosecan for driving while intoxicated and careless driving charges.

This man was fined $200, and sentenced to 290 days in the workhouse," said Judge Gayer in discharging the defendant. "I would like to know on what evidence. If a man is to be convicted on such testimony as this, the courts might as well discard all rules of evidence and Judges render verdicts on their personal opinions."

Could Not Identify Defendant.

A similar case to be heard yesterday was that of John Sharkey, 1730 Elliott avenue, whom Judge Rosecan fined $100 and sentenced to 100 days in the workhouse for careless driving. Neither the police officer who made the arrest nor the prosecuting witness, who charged that Sharkey had been the cause of a collision between their two machines on Dec. 20 last, could identify Sharkey as the driver of the other automobile.

"I am not a mind reader," said Judge Gayer as he quashed the case. "I can't guess who was driving that machine. There is no evidence to show that this man figured in a collision at all."

Judge Gayer also reversed a $500 fine levied by Judge Beck against Frank Heitgrass, 3721 Hebert street, for careless driving, but sustained for identical fine against him.

Man, 71, Ends Life by Shooting

Frank C. De Witt, 71 years old, who was discharged from the city infirmary yesterday for failure to obey rules, was found dead last night in front of 703 Carr street, with a revolver with which he had shot himself in the mouth still clutched in his hand.

Whisky Found on Seat of Auto.

Detectives of the rum squad in a police automobile last night arrested Charles B. Caperton, 33 years old, of 4270 Washington boulevard, when he disregarded a traffic policeman's signal at Grand and Delmar boulevard, turning west and driving crookedly to Vandeventer avenue, where they stopped him and found a pint bottle half full of whisky on the front seat beside him.

FIVE PERSONS HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENTS

Two Women Knocked Down
While Crossing Streets; Third Injured in Collision.

Five persons were injured, two critically, early today and last night in auto accidents.

Mrs. Anna Rickert, 53 years old, is in St. John's Hospital in a critical condition. Her skull was fractured when she was struck last evening by an auto driven by Herman Schachner, 1919 Withnell avenue.
Mrs. Rickert, who lives at 1324 Graham avenue from the south side to the north in the middle of the 4300 block when she was struck.
Schachner took her to St. John's Hospital and then reported to the police and gave bond.

Reese H. Horton, 22 years old,
308 Maple avenue, and Miss Frances Barr, 20, 71, Vandeventer place, were seriously injured when the auto driven by Horton, collided at Delmar boulevard and Vandeventer avenue with that of Anton Pfister, 2014 Tamm avenue, at 2:30 a. m. today.

Miss Barr was taken to her home with a fractured right hip and ankle, while Horton was taken to the prison ward in the City Hospital, charged with careless driving. His face and hands were lacerated.
Pfister was also charged with careless driving.

Mrs. Elizabeth Holmes, 56, was struck by an automobile driven by La. P. P. P. at 2018 Barr street at 7:20 last night as she was crossing Locust street at Fifteenth. She was taken to the City Hospital, suffering from a fractured collar bone. She lives at the Young Women's Christian Association.

Edward Conrad, 24, 6401 Hobart avenue, was riding a bicycle on Delmar boulevard at 5:30 p. m.
yesterday and at Pendleton avenue was struck by a mail truck. His skull was fractured. He was taken to the City Hospital. Oliver Ostrem, 2116 Osage street, driver of the truck, was arrested, charged with careless driving. He said the accident occurred when he passed a bus on the left.

RELIGIOUS SLUMP NOTED AT HARVARD SINCE WAR

Only Jews, Catholics and Episcopalians Show Increased Interest, Protestant's Record Shows.

By the Associated Press
CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 16.—
A marked religious slump among Harvard students since the World War is deduced from statistics compiled by Julian L. Coolidge, professor of mathematics in the university, and published in the current Harvard Alumni Bulletin. He found that only in the case of Jews, Catholics and Episcopalian had there been a percentage of increase from 1895 to 1922 among those reporting their religious preferences.
The percentage figures were as follows:

1895. 1905. 1915. 1922.
Episcopalian..... 20 23 22 21
Evangelical..... 28 23 20 19
Unitarian..... 20 19 17 10
Protestant..... 4 6 11 7
Jewish..... 2 4 8 12
Scattering..... 5 5 4 3
"Not interested"..... 21 20 18 27

"Is there," he asks, "a connection between the 50 per cent increase in the proportion of the religiously indifferent and the increase in lawlessness in the same period. If so, what do we propose to do about it?"

CONTRACT LET FOR $185,000 POWER PLANT AT FLAT RIVER

FLAT RIVER, Mo., April 16.—
The St. Louis Smelting and Refining Works of the National Lead
Co. has let the contract for construction of a new power house to the J. V. Boland Construction Co., St. Louis. The building, with three 814-horsepower boilers, will represent a total expenditure of $185,- 000. Present plans contemplate having the new unit in operation in August of this year.

The building will be 44x90 feet, 59 feet high, and one giant concrete smokestack 250 feet high will furnish air outlet from all boiler furnaces. This will be the tallest stack in this district.

The St. Louis property is the largest mining unit of the National company, which generates its own power to operate all of its mining and milling units. The new power plant will, when completed, supplant the one now in operation.

TWO WOMEN SERIOUSLY HURT IN STREET CAR ACCIDENTS

One, unconscious at City Hospital, Has Not Been Identified.

Mrs. Rose Allina, 70 years old, 3914 De Tony street, and an unidentified woman were seriously hurt in two street car accidents yesterday.

Mrs. Allina was trying to board a Market line car at Skinner boulevard and Oakland avenue when the door closed, catching her clothing.
She was taken to her home where a physician said she had suffered an injury to the back, a fractured knee and a broken right arm.

The unidentified woman was taken to the city hospital after falling from a Jefferson line car at Jefferson and Lafayette avenues.
Her skull was fractured. All she was able to murmur before lapsing into unconsciousness was, "Mary Smith."

Special to the Post-Dispatch
WASHINGTON, April 18.—Which is the wettest city in the United States? Digging into the statistics adduced from the prohibition hearing and which are far from dry reading, it is possible at last to rate the first 20 municipalities of the land, according to their degree of wetness.

The only true criterion of comparative wetness is to be found in the data submitted giving the total number of arrests for drunkenness during the year 1925. No less than 20 cities reported an excess of 5,000 arrests for this cause.

A significant part of the comparison is the fact that the 20 wettest cities represent virtually every section of the country, demonstrating that the liquor problem of today is not confined to former wet territories alone.

Chicago takes the blue ribbon, or the red gonfalon, or whatever emblem should go to the wettest city. This may be a surprise. The innocent bystander undoubtedly would have guessed that New York, being the metropolis and the hotbed of wet sentiment and propaganda, would have led the "League of Hard and Steady Drinkers." But New York stands a poor eighth in the list of 20.

Chicago was nearly eight times "drunker" and more disorderly than New York. Chicago's obvious answer to this is that out there they arrest the drunks and disorderlies whereas in New York friendly cops pat them on the back and tell them to move on to the next beat. It must also be remembered that New York has no State enforcement law. But that should not hold for the old ordinances against being drunk and disorderly date back to the days of the saloon.

Philadelphia, which Gen. Butler tried so hard to reform, runs Chicago a fairly close second. Boston, hub of the Universe, home of culture and learning stands a husky third in the wet league.

Sixteen states and the District of Columbia are represented in the 20 wettest American boroughs. Chicago's high total of 92,888 arrests during 1925 includes charges both of drunkenness and disorderly conduct. The two are jumbled and more or less synonymous. But in all other cities the total of arrests is for drunkenness alone. Here is the record of the leading 20:

City and Standing
1. Philadelphia
2. Boston
3. Chicago
4. New York
5. Cleveland
6. Detroit

In just one to Minneapolis it should be stated that figures were obtained from the investigators regarding St. Paul.

If You Have These Symptoms, You Have NEURITIS!

1. Sharp, stabbing pains in the shoulders, nape of the neck, small of the back, thighs and forearms.
2. Frontal headaches and eye strain.
3. Stiff joints, sore muscles and disturbances of the nervous system.
4. Pain causing a sense of numbness in the hands and feet.

Medical science gives these as some of the common symptoms of Neuritis. And Neuritis means nerve inflammation. It's cause lies deep in the nerve tissues. It cannot possibly be overcome by remedies merely applied to the surface.

The one and only effective way to treat Neuritis is to go to the source of the trouble, build up and strengthen the weakened nerves. And that is exactly what Eopa Neuritis Tablets accomplish.

Eopa Neuritis Tablets have proven their effectiveness in millions of cases. An ethical remedy free from narcotics, bromides, coal tar products and other forms of dope. Will affect the heart. Write for Health Booklet.—The Eopa Company, 880 Folson St., San Francisco, Dept. S 27.

LESS PROSPECT OF IMPEACHING SMALL

Legislative Victory at Primary Thought to Assure His Protection.

CHICAGO, April 16.—The talk of impeachment of Gov. Len Small, which was ripe a few months ago, has largely died down in Illinois, now that the nominations for legislative positions have been amynged.

It is found that while the Governor lost a few friends in the lower house, his candidates for the Senate were quite generally successful in the Republican primaries. That cuts down the chances of any very vigorous action against him.

This means that if Gov. Small's opponents want to get him out of office before his term expires, because of the recent Illinois Supreme Court decision requiring an accounting of $1,000,000 in interest funds, they will have to depend upon the courts.

The recent primary general is regarded as a decisive defeat for the Governor, outside of the important legislative fight. While his victory in good many positions there is no doubt to assess protection, he lost through the victory of Garrett F. Kinney for State Treasurer, a position the Governor made a special fight to capture.

The opponents of the Illinois executive claim that excessively large sums were spent to win the legislative fight. Whether that is true or not, the important result seems to be that the Governor has his own position pretty well guarded, even though the whole slate of candidates outside of legislative, who were allied with him, went down to defeat.

The Republican State convention is held at Springfield today, with Frank L. Smith, the nominee for United States Senator, in control.

FORMER WIFE OF ST. LOUISAN
KILLS CHILD AND HERSELF

Mrs. Mary Potts Applegate Turns
On Gas in Jersey Home After Stabbing Young Daughter.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

TRENTON, N. J., April 16.—Mrs. Mary Potts Applegate, 29 years old, wife of Frank Applegate, sporting goods dealer, was found in bed nerve unconscious from the effects of poison and gas. Lying beside her was her dying 14-year-old daughter, Mayne. Both died before they were removed to St. Francis Hospital. The child died from a stab wound over the heart, inflicted, police say, by the mother before she took poison, and then turned on a gas jet.

Applegate told police his wife had often contemplated suicide and had threatened that, "When I go my baby will go with me." The husband said his wife had planned to kill him and that the night before the tragedy she offered him a capsule which she said contained quinine, but which he told police was poisonous. He said on another occasion she attempted to kill her son.

Mrs. Applegate's daughter was by her first husband, Dr. H. Leroy Potts, who died a few years ago. She then married Dr. Blaine Garrison of St. Louis. They were divorced, and two years ago she married Applegate. She was a nurse by profession.

REPORT CONTAGIOUS DISEASES

Health Commissioner Leo P. Fitzgerald of University City has announced a campaign against parents and physicians who fail to report contagious diseases. Failure to do so, he said, will result in prosecution. The law provides a fine of $100 for failure to report contagious diseases. Notices were circulated in public schools Monday announcing the Health Commissioner's proposed action.

Ninety-eight cases of measles have been reported in University City this month.

Bargain for Solomon-Like Mayor
MUNICH, April 16.—The sequel to an incident at the German village of Reichenberg, near Munich, is reminiscent of the judgment of Solomon. A cyclist, after running down and killing a prize goose, offered the owner two gold marks as compensation. The latter refused, but told the cyclist that he could take away the goose for five gold marks. The proposal met with a refusal, and after a violent discussion, the village Mayor was asked to arbitrate. "It is quite easy," said the Mayor, "the cyclist has given you two marks. I'll give you the balance of three marks, and I take the goose. You have both obtained satisfaction."

MAUNA LOA SPOUTING LAVA

Two Flaming Geyser 200 Feet High Seen for Almost 50 Miles. By the Associated Press.

HILO, T. H., April 16.—Two flaming red geysers spouting lava 200 feet into the air and visible almost 50 miles away, was the latest display of temperament today by Mauna Loa, while streams of lava continued to flow toward the ocean.

Dr. J. A. Jaggar, in charge of the volcano observatory, said one stream of lava would pass by a village church which is now in its path.

Of the two lava flows, one is 1,000 feet wide and 10 feet deep, the other 300 to 500 feet wide and eight feet deep. The molten masses illuminated the entire island last night. It is doubtful that the lava will reach the sea because it has reached level country, but some homesteaders near the coast in the path have begun to vacate their places. The lava already has blotted out a great forest.

NEW YORK, April 16.—Half a dozen arrests for the sale and possession of liquor have been reported to United States District Attorney Buckner as one of the results of the work of raiding squads in Buckner's fourth major patrol drive begun Wednesday night.

Peter Thomas, a former prohibition agent, now in charge of Maxim's restaurant, accepted service of a subpoena and later was arrested when agents reported they found a regular bar in the cellar. A card index of 15,000 customers' signatures was discovered at the Palace Club in West Forty-sixth street.

America's Oldest Petroleum Refiner Makes Advertising Debut

In 1855, four years before the development of the Pennsylvania oil fields, the Pierce Petroleum Corporation made its start.

John Robert Finlay, a Scotchman, came to St. Louis and began the manufacture of coal oil from a certain coal found in Kentucky. Later, when petroleum was discovered in this country, Mr. Finlay brought his "crude" from West Virginia to his refinery west of the St. Louis city limits.

On that very spot, today, now Thirteenth and Gratiot Streets, the Pierce Petroleum Corporation operates one of its numerous plants.

Early in Mr. Finlay's career he became associated with Mr. Henry Clay Pierce. The firm name of this progenitor of the petroleum industry has been variously, J. R. Finlay & Co., St. Louis Coal Oil Company, H. C. Pierce & Co., Waters-Pierce & Co., Waters-Pierce Oil Co., Pierce Oil Corporation, and finally, Pierce Petroleum Corporation, now a $26,000,000 company, with its own producing wells, refineries and pipelines, with headquarters in St. Louis and wide distribution throughout the Southwest.

During all these seventy-one years, this great petroleum pioneer has modestly let its products sell themselves.

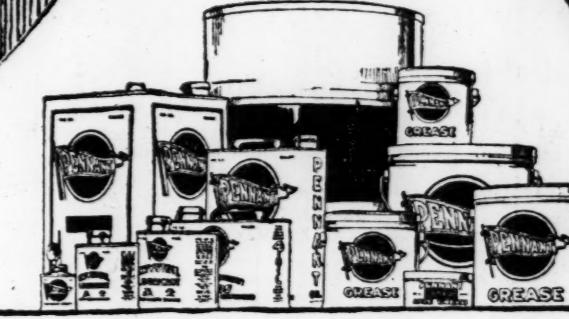

This advertisement is the first of a series which will tell, for the first time, the story of Pennant Gasoline and Motor Oils to the motoring public.

There must be very good reasons why Pennant Gasoline and Motor Oils have become so well and favorably known without advertising—why they are so generally used and so widely distributed—why there are 178 Pennant Filling Stations and Garages in St. Louis, East St. Louis and vicinity alone—why so many owners of large fleets of motor vehicles use Pennant Products exclusively.

Watch the Pennant advertisements and you will soon learn why—but in the meantime, drive into one of the numerous Pennant Filling Stations, listed in the panel at the right, and "try out" Pennant Gasoline, Oil and Grease. You'll find a "kick" to the Gasoline that you never dreamed of. You'll be surprised at the mileage, too. And as for the oil, well, just try it. You'll sense the difference right away.

By the Associated Press.
COLUMBIA, Mo., April 16.—Elmer C. Henderson of Fulton was nominated for the Governorship of the Fourteenth District of Rotary at the fourth annual convention of the organization here yesterday. He was unopposed and will be elected at the national convention of Rotary to be held in Denver next June.

Henderson is a charter member of the Fulton Club and was president of the organization there last year. He also is a member of the Fourteenth District Conference Committee.

Kirksville and Cape Girardeau extended invitations for the 1927 convention. The next convention city will be decided by the Executive Committee some time after the present convention.

Only brief business sessions were held today at which Dr. Gus W. Dyer of Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn.; L. F. Turnbull, St. Louis; Dr. William Hudson, professor of philosophy at the University of Missouri; Dr. Stanley Krebs, Richland, Ind., and Arthur Lee, Clinton, delivered short addresses espousing the cause of Rotary and describing the work of the Rotary clubs of the world in their aims for service, brotherhood and the uplift of mankind.

Most of the unfinished business of the convention was transacted at the morning session and the afternoon given over to a program of entertainment.

The convention closed tonight with a dinner and the Governor's ball at the women's gymnasium at the State University.

Frank Dearing, chairman of the registration committee, announced this afternoon that the attendance had reached 945, one of the largest registrations ever made at a convention in the Fourteenth district. Four of the clubs, Booneville, Centralia, Fulton and Mexico, had 100 per cent registrations. Cape Girardeau registered 30, Hannibal 16, St. Louis 67, Sedalia 39, Moberly 40, Jefferson City 45, Kansas City 3 and St. Joseph 1.

CLAY COUNTY DRUGGISTS CAN FILL LIQUOR PRESCRIPTIONSCourt Removes Restrictions Placed Year Ago When Voters Elect Liberal Candidate.Special to the Post-Dispatch.
LIBERTY, Mo., April 16.—The Clay County Court in a session yesterday afternoon removed a restriction that for about a year has prevented Clay County druggists from handling ethyl alcohol or filling liquor prescriptions.

In removing the restriction the court felt it was said the recent election in Excelsior Springs and the present agitation in many quarters for the return of beer and light wines indicate a desire for more liberal policies.

A. M. Howard recently was elected a member of the Excelsior Springs City Council on a liberal platform.

For the last year, a peculiar situation has existed. Physicians have had right to prescribe alcoholic liquors for medicinal purposes but druggists have been restricted from filling them. The restriction was ordered by the court about a year ago after an investigation was reported to have revealed a startling amount of sickness which required liquor in treatment.

BISHOP BROWN BEGINS COURT FIGHT AGAINST HERESY RULINGHe Seeks Restoration First of His Pension of $12,000.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 16.—Bishop William Montgomery Brown of the Old Catholic Church has begun his court fight to upset the ruling of the House of Bishops of the Protestant Episcopal Church, deposing him from the Episcopal bishopric on charges of heresy.

The first phase of the legal fight was fought before Supreme Court Justice Lydon, who ruled yesterday on a motion by William W. Skidley, treasurer of the Episcopal Church, to set aside the summons and complaint served on him in the case. Counsel for both sides was given until Monday to submit final papers and memoranda of law.

Bishop Brown was represented by Joseph W. Sharts of Dayton and Edward Bushnell of Cleveland. Sharts said that Bishop Brown is not seeking relief from his deposition at this point, but relief from being deprived of his $12,000-a-year pension.

WILKINS ON THIRD FLIGHT

By the Associated Press.

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, April 16.—Speeding up preparations for his coming aerial expedition over the Arctic Ocean in search of land, Capt. George Hubert Wilkins took off here yesterday in the airplane Alaskan on the third flight to Point Barrow with supplies.

Lieut. Carl E. Eliason piloted the plane. The 55-mile trip to Point Barrow, the starting point of the proposed Arctic flight, was expected to require about five hours. The plane carried 4,000 pounds of gasoline to add to the store already at Barrow. Wilkins undertook the trip despite an injured hand and arm, which he sustained Saturday while guiding the Alaskan as the plane landed on the ice at the edge of the Arctic Ocean at

PHILIPPINE TRADE

Islands Both Buy and Sell for Millions Annually; Many Dormant Possibilities.

Copyright 1926.

MANILA, P. I., March 15.—The economic importance of the Philippines to the United States has reached such a volume that it impresses every American visiting Manila who has a more serious purpose than to revel at Santa Ana Cabaret, with its world's biggest dance hall, or enjoy the non-Volsteadian hospitality of the city itself.

Anxiety about rubber supplies has led to inquiry as to the sources of other essential raw products, bringing out the fact that Manila hemp is necessary to the cordage industry of America and grows nowhere else but in the Philippines. American visitors have learned that the Philippines produce one-third of the surplus coconuts crop of the tropical world and that the United States takes nearly the entire supply.

As a Buyer From U. S.

As a buyer from the United States the territory looks no less important than any other. During the last 10 years the islands bought silk goods to the sum of $20,000,000, of which $5,000,000 went to the United States. The Philippines bill for automobiles during the decade was $20,000,000, virtually all of which was spent in the United States.

The islands spent $12,000,000 for cotton cloths during the period, $116,000,000 of which was spent in the United States. For other cotton goods the islands paid American manufacturers $31,000,000 of $72,000,000 spent. Other purchases in the United States during the 10 years follow: Iron and steel products, $66,000,000; machinery, $42,000,000; wheat flour, $19,000,000; dairy products, $16,500,000; gasoline, $16,000,000. They are now purchasing 85 per cent of their finished products in the United States, spending $10,000,000 in the mother country for flour last year.

Rice is the only one of the islands' 10 chief imports which they do not buy principally from the United States.

Fast Areas for Rubber.

Harvey Firestone Jr., winding up his investigations here, finds vast areas suitable for rubber growing. Arthur F. Fischer, Director of Forestry, adds that not only the rubber supply for America, but quinine, too, can be produced here. The College of Agriculture adds coffee and jute to the list. Jute is coming in, but it is considered a noxious weed, coffee according to the inspection. The Bureau of Forestry has classified Philippine lands as follows:

Commercial forests, 62,240 square miles; noncommercial forests, 12,801; mangrove swamps (yielding dyes and tanning barks), 1045; grass lands, 22,756; lands under cultivation, 9607; unexplored lands, 5581.

Hour of Solitude Daily for Health.

LONDON, April 16.—Sylvia Thorndike's recipe for keeping well is very simple. "I don't eat much. I don't sleep much. I don't do physical exercises, but I always manage to be quite alone and uninterrupted for at least one hour a day. The habit of being quite alone to keep in touch with one's self is what every man and woman needs to keep mentally and physically fit," said the famous actress-producer, who is one of the busiest women in all England. In her long stage life Miss Thorndike says she has been ill only twice, and then only for a night.

Slayer of Sheriff Electrocuted.

ned. Preserved, Packaged Foods Are Time Savers When Unexpected Company Arrives for Dinner.

well-stocked emergency shelf in the old-time family kitchen was a joy to behold. Fruits and vegetables of all kinds, bacon, dried beans, smoked fish, a sack of coffee, a sack of sugar, dried herbs for seasoning, preserves and jellies galore. The shelves and stored food were well-arranged on such days as those of an unexpected company. Through the housekeeper to whom it was blessed with the greatest and panting that were a mother's delight, yet the preservative keeps constant hand a goodly supply of preserved, packaged and dried fruits and vegetables. In the emergency use, but because time savers. Another reason is the actual food for all canned and packaged from high-grade factories are looked upon as carriers of salts and vitamins.

Regulate Your Fire.

Remember that food does not cook any faster because of very rapidly boiling water. Keep the temperature well up until the boiling point is reached and then lower the flame to the simmering point. Food that is once raised to the boiling point and then allowed to simmer cooks just as fast as if it were boiling rapidly all the time.

MACARONI GOOD FOOD FOR FREQUENT USE

An Advantage of Macaroni Is

That It Combines With

Other Foods.

MACARONI gives vigor and energy to the human system and builds muscles and strength. The best type of macaroni is made of a wheat rich in proteins, such as nourish muscles, brain, nerves and tendons.

Macaroni is rich in gluten and is easily digested—less than 1% percent of it is lost in process of digestion and assimilation.

Another special merit that it has is that it contains indigestible substances which harm either the blood vessels or liver.

It is desirable for frequent use—not semi-occasionally—but several times a week, if not daily. For people who are more or less inactive, who have sedentary habits, macaroni is especially good; for them it forms an ideal food and can hardly be eaten too often during the week.

Again because of its easy digestibility, macaroni makes an excellent main dish for the evening meal. People who find heavy food impossible in the evening will have no difficulty with macaroni on that score. Because of its digestibility and nourishing qualities, even babies are kept healthy on macaroni.

Since it does not produce any uric acid it is an excellent food in case of kidney and liver troubles and for those who may be suffering from gout, or arteriosclerosis, rheumatism, lumbago or diabetes. Macaroni appears to have a beneficial effect upon intestinal purification.

An advantage of macaroni is that it combines excellently with other foods, thus giving opportunity for variety and adding to the nutritive values of the macaroni dish. Tomatoes and macaroni make a favorite combination. Fish and meat and cheese also combine well with macaroni and all are high in food values.

Combining cheese with macaroni offers an especially attractive way of introducing protein into the system. If tomato is also added with its high vitamin value, almost ideal food dish is the result—ideal in the sense of being pretty complete in itself for a balanced meal.

The macaroni itself contributes the minerals of which our bodies are in constant need and in fact must have in order to remain healthy. The heart, lungs, liver and all other organs suffer if they are deprived of the proper amount of mineral matter. Calcium, magnesium, potassium, sodium, phosphorus, chlorine, sulphur and iron are the minerals particularly needed.

Double Boiler Useful.

The double boiler is a very useful kitchen equipment and is always suggesting itself in new ways to the housewife.

Of course, we know how to make sauce of all kinds, but have you ever tried scrambling the breakfast eggs—it gives a very dainty, fluffy egg.

When you make salad dressing place ice in the lower container and make the mayonnaise in the top, thus you have two vessels that fit completely and will not toss about. Cream can be whipped in the same way.

When making Jello and wishing to keep it hot during the time needed again, use the double boiler.

Whenever in need of a container to keep ingredients hot or cold just remember the friendly double boiler.

Nice Bran Muffins.

Cream together two tablespoons shortening and one-fourth cup sugar and add one egg well beaten. Mix together one cup flour, one-half teaspoon each of soda, salt and one teaspoon baking powder. To the creamed mixture add one cup of bran and one cup of sour milk alternately with the sifted dry ingredients. Pour finished mixture into greased muffin tins and bake for 20 minutes. If sweet milk is used instead of sour milk, omit the soda and use three teaspoons of baking powder. Raisins or dates may be added to the muffins if desired.

Use Warm Suds Water.

While it is not advisable to scrub linoleum off yet if dirt should get ground into it, turn it around the door, for instance, and your floor really requires washing, it pays to follow these simple directions:

Use warm sudsy water, and be sure the soap you use is a mild one. Be careful that none of the soap is left undissolved in the water. Wash about a square yard at a time. Before wiping the linoleum dry, go over the floor with clean water to remove any soap that may remain.

Baked Apple Garnish.

Select eight apples. Peel and core and stick with cloves. Cook in boiling water five minutes turning them often. Have water half way around the apples. When apples are cooked through add cup sugar, the grated rind of lemon and sufficient red hot candies to color the apples a full red color. Simmer until apples are clear and transparent and the liquid reduced, turning frequently. Pour syrup over them. Chill and use for garnish.

When milk is heated the most easily digested protein substance coagulates and forms a scum on top. Natural salts in the milk are thus lost.

AGAIN FASHIONABLE

NUTRITION NUGGETS

GIVE GOOD ADVICE

Grandma's Wash-Day Dinner. Now the One-Dish Dinner, Returns to Favor.

Suggestions Offered the Cook Concerning Food Problems and Nutrition.

THERE is nothing new under the sun. Who does not remember old-fashioned boiled dinners which were always served on washdays when only one hole on the family cook stove could be relegated to cook the midday dinner? On those days the whole dinner was boiled in one pot, hence the name, "boiled dinner."

Today the boiled dinner is again fashionable only we glorify it by calling it "a one-dish dinner" and we do not restrict it to washdays. In fact the efficiency apartment housewife and the furnished room dweller have popularized one-dish dinners not only because they are easy to cook, easy to serve and easy to clean up after, but because daddy and the children simply adore the good, nourishing savory one-dish dinner.

Recipes for two popular one-dish dinners follow:

Potted Hominy and Beef.

Hominy canned or dried is excellent to use as a base for a one-dish dinner. If dried hominy is used soak two cups of dried hominy overnight.

Cook in a double boiler or in a fireless cooker for four hours when you will have about five cups of flakey creamy white hominy. If canned hominy is used two cans will be necessary.

Add to the hominy four large potatoes, peeled and diced; two cups of carrots, peeled and diced; one-fourth pound sliced dried beef; two cups of milk; two tablespoons flour, the same of pork or other fat and one teaspoon salt. Melt the fat, stir in the flour, add the cold milk and mix well. Boil the mixture until it thickens. Place all ingredients in baking dish and pour over cream sauce and bake in oven for one hour.

Fish Chowder.

Few or any other meat may be used instead of fish or tomatoes may be used instead of milk.

One and one-half pounds of fresh, salt or canned fish; nine potatoes peeled and cut in small pieces; one onion sliced; two cups of carrots, peeled and cut in small pieces; one-fourth pound of salt pork; three cups of milk; three tablespoons flour and pepper and salt to taste. Cut pork in small pieces and fry with the chopped onion for five minutes. Put pork and vegetables in kettle and cover with boiling water and cook until vegetables are tender. Mix flour with one-half cup of cold milk and stir into the liquid in pot to thicken. Remove bones from fish and flake fish in small pieces. Add remainder of cheese is represented several times in this week's menus and one is reminded of the man who lived for two years on cheese, brown bread and fruit. He maintained perfect health. The cheese furnished concentrated body-building food while the certain parts of the bread did their share in this regard. The mineral salts, the vitamins and the body-regulating material were, of course, furnished by the fruit. While such a limited diet is not advisable, it is of interest to realize that the addition of cheese to the diet means the addition of very concentrated and very nourishing food.

Fish Chowder.

Few or any other meat may be used instead of fish or tomatoes may be used instead of milk.

One and one-half pounds of fresh, salt or canned fish; nine potatoes peeled and cut in small pieces; one onion sliced; two cups of carrots, peeled and cut in small pieces; one-fourth pound of salt pork; three cups of milk; three tablespoons flour and pepper and salt to taste. Cut pork in small pieces and fry with the chopped onion for five minutes. Put pork and vegetables in kettle and cover with boiling water and cook until vegetables are tender. Mix flour with one-half cup of cold milk and stir into the liquid in pot to thicken. Remove bones from fish and flake fish in small pieces. Add remainder of the fish.

Smoked Fish.

These one-dish dinners supply all five kinds of food the body needs. Each dish is enough for the whole dinner of a family. Eat with bread and serve coffee and fresh or canned fruit for dessert.

As a general thing, we depend on the plainer dishes for roughage, the brain in the cereals, the vitamins in vegetables and so on. Cod-nut is an example of what a good food may contribute along this line. Carefully shredded cod-nut is excellent for those who have reached the period of mature digestion. Although this type of food should not be eaten in large quantities to furnish sufficient roughage, on the other hand, even little bits help.

Romance Like Fiction In Life of Zaharoff

World's Greatest Multimillionaire Waited 40 Years to Wed Duchess Who Died 18 Months Later.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MONTE CARLO.—The recent death of Mme. Basil Zaharoff has brought to light a romance stranger than any ever written by Balzac, the story of a poor Greek boy's plighted love for a proud Spanish Duchess, which was to the world's greatest and most mysterious multimillionaire.

The destinies of nations are his sport: the movements of armies and the affairs of government are his secret delight." The man about whom Lord Beaverbrook wrote these words was the great Zaharoff, born of poor parents, Greek traders in Constantinople.

He came to Athens, picked up many languages and sked out a living as a guide for American and English tourists. One day the agent for the famous English munitions firm of Vickers engaged him as interpreter during negotiations he was carrying on with the Greek Government. Vicker's agent was so impressed with the qualities of the young man that he offered him a place in London.

Got Order From Spain.

On the Orient Express was traveling a young and beautiful Spanish bride, the Duchess de Villafanca de los Caballeros. She, the victim of a marriage of reason, fell violently in love with the fortune-seeking Athenian and he interrupted his trip to London long enough to pass an idyllic week in Paris. When he bade her a tearful farewell he had his plan of action already laid.

Zaharoff proposed a daring and unusual proposition to the directors of Vickers; he would accept a slight commission as their Spanish agent, but if he succeeded in securing an order of $1,000,000 he should be admitted to the Board of Directors.

After two months in Spain Zaharoff returned with an order for warships, ammunitions and artillery of more than $5,000,000, and was admitted to the firm as had been agreed. The influence of the Duchess had won him his success.

Waited 40 Years.

But marriage was impossible. She was a Catholic and would not even entertain the idea of a divorce. Nevertheless he was faithful to the vow he had made in his youth and waited for her 40 years. Meanwhile, he had been acquiring mines and steamship companies. The greatest gambling resort in the world, Monte Carlo, became his and he tasted the cold joys of power. He married the Duchess, but 18 months later she died, carried off by one of those brusque changes in weather that not even all his billions could foresee and avert.

Monte Carlo has seen him for the last time. He lives a quiet and secluded life in a vast rambling chateau not far from Paris, shunning the sunshine of the Riviera that had dashed the cup of happiness from his lips.

ARKANSAS COLLEGE GIRLS CAST VOTES FOR LITTLE MAKEUP

Majority of 20 "Razorback Beauties" Is Divided as to Discreet Use of Lipstick.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark.—That a moderate quantity of makeup is desirable for a modern college girl is the consensus of opinion of the 20 University of Arkansas students who were voted the "Razorback Beauties" in the recent annual beauty contest. Photographs of the 20 successful candidates have been sent to Florence Ziegfeld, who is to select the most beautiful for the official Razorback queen.

All 20 of the young ladies expressed themselves as fervent supporters of makeup. Permanent waves and cosmetics of secondary importance as far as real daintiness and feminine comeliness go, the young ladies agreed. The vote on the use of lip-stick and rouge was considerably divided—the majority favored a moderate and discreet use of both. All of the Arkansans name neatness as the most important attribute of a popular college girl, at least so far as her appearance is concerned.

The battleship to be "modernized" are the New York, Texas, Utah, Wyoming, Florida and Arkansas.

Through modern naval science, together with exhaustive studies of the effect of torpedoes, mines and aerial bombs on the first line battleships, means have been devised to afford maximum protection to these first line fighting vessels, it was said.

Important Work.

Naval officials regard this work as the most important in years and it will be done at a cost of $18,000,000 remaining from an appropriation last year. Each battleship to be "modernized" will cost $3,000,000. The work will be done in the navy yards of this city, Boston and Norfolk, it was reported.

Despite the arguments recently purporting to show that the dreadnaughts are at the mercy of the aircraft and submarines and that they can put the battleships out of commission, it was said that experiments carried on for many years by the Navy Department, have shown.

By adding an external hull or shell, termed a "blister".

2. By strengthening the protection of deck armor, protection of the machinery, boilers, magazines and other vital parts and.

3. By adding a third bottom to the ship, built inside the hull, the battleship can be made almost unsinkable.

The Jutland Lesson.

The battle of Jutland, the major naval engagement of the World War, afforded the greatest lesson in naval construction. Battleships, as a result, are rated as pre-Jutland or post-Jutland. According to naval officials the Jutland engagement proved that the aircraft or under-water craft were not the most formidable adversary of the modern battleships, although several ships were sunk by submarines. It proved, it was said, that another craft of its own type with superior gun power and speed was what the dreadnaughts had to fear.

MRS. BROWNING'S MOTHER
Court Says Question of Improper Guardianship Was Settled by Marriage of Girl.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 16.—Justice Hoyt of the Children's Court dismissed the petition signed by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children charging improper guardianship against Mrs. William L. Heenan, mother of 15-year-old Frances Heenan Browning.

The Justice commented on the way in which stories of the marriage of Browning, 51, and Frances would influence the two bills in the Legislature regulating hasty and youthful marriages.

"As the child has been married since the filing of the petition," the Justice said, "it is quite apparent the question of the adequacy and quality of the guardianship formerly exercised by her parents is no longer as relevant to her condition as it was in the past. To hold a protracted hearing into the supervision which obviously was terminated by her marriage can effect nothing and serve no useful purpose."

Mr. and Mrs. Heenan and Frances were not in court yesterday. They were informed their presence was unnecessary after a representative of the Children's Society obtained a copy of a petition from Putnam County showing Browning and the girl were legally married.

Yesterday Browning and her bride visited a toy shop and purchased several sets of games intended for fireside amusement. Mrs. Browning had spent most of the day buying gowns and other apparel, including a minnie coat. Browning, on the fifth day of their honeymoon, bought her an engagement ring, a wedding ring and also a birthday ring, at a cost of about $5,000. The birthday ring was a lover's knot in platinum, with two large diamonds. The bride will be 16 on June 16.

UNCLE SAM WILL MODERNIZE SIX BIG WARSHIPS

Navy Department Plans Expenditures of $18,000,- 000 to Equip Vessels With Improvements.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PHILADELPHIA.—Six of Uncle Sam's most formidable battleships will be "modernized"—they will be made secure against bombs and torpedoes, according to word received at the navy yard here.

The battleship to be "modernized" are the New York, Texas, Utah, Wyoming, Florida and Arkansas.

Through modern naval science, together with exhaustive studies of the effect of torpedoes, mines and aerial bombs on the first line battleships, means have been devised to afford maximum protection to these first line fighting vessels, it was said.

Important Work.

Naval officials regard this work as the most important in years and it will be done at a cost of $18,000,000 remaining from an appropriation last year.

The work will be done in the navy yards of this city, Boston and Norfolk, it was reported.

Despite the arguments recently purporting to show that the dreadnaughts are at the mercy of the aircraft and submarines and that they can put the battleships out of commission, it was said that experiments carried on for many years by the Navy Department, have shown.

By adding an external hull or shell, termed a "blister".

2. By strengthening the protection of deck armor, protection of the machinery, boilers, magazines and other vital parts and.

3. By adding a third bottom to the ship, built inside the hull, the battleship can be made almost unsinkable.

Of the New York World Sport Staff
NEW YORK, April 16.—Sixty-six three-year-olds, representing 38 interests have been named for the Preakness, at one mile and three sixteenths, the first of the $50,000 spring classics, which will be run at Pimlico on May 10.

According to the list of nominations announced yesterday, every colt and filly of quality in the big stables of the East—with the exception of Haste—has been named,
so the list represents only horses that might be classed as probable starters. Carlars also is an absolute certainty, and so are several others.

H. P. Bradley has named five of his best yearlings from the Idle Hour Farm stable.

Pompey, Canterbury, Blanche, Marla, Bubbling Over, Mars and Chancery Play, of course, are on the list of the eligibles. So are Timmervale, which has shown so well in Maryland this spring; Flight of Time, and Display, from the W. J. Salmon stable; Crusader, Taws, Dress Parade, and Corvette, belonging to Sam
D. Riddle; The Brookmeadow stable's Rock Star and Flyman and Macaw, Color Sergeant, Bliondon and Token named by H. P. Whitney.

Others on the list include Happy
Argo, the Irish colt that Bernard
M. Baruch bought several weeks ago from Mat Brady; Nichavo the long representative of the Rancocas stable; William Ziegler's Espino and the Sagamore stable's Rock Man.

VIC KEEN BLANKS THE PIRATES AND CARDINALS WIN AGAIN, 2 TO 0

WORLD CHAMPIONS HELPLESS
BEFORE FAULTLESS PITCHING OF BILL KILLEFER'S PROTEGE

Rogers Hornsby Supplies the Batting Punch Which Enables Locals to Capture Pitchers' Battle From Johnny Morrison—Brilliant Fielding by St. Louis Features.

By Herman Wecke.

"Yes, it looks like St. Louis is still the camping grounds for all-in-and-outers," remarked the skeptics last winter, when it was announced that Victor Keen, right hander, had been obtained in a trade with the Cubs for Jimmy Cooney, one of the best fielding shortstop in the national pastime and a man who had set a new record for the short fielders to shoot at.

What did this Keen do to make it appear that he could help the Cardinals?" the fans wanted to know. "Well, it just seems like another way of making it easy for the Pirates and Giants in the 1926 flag race," was the general impression.

At new Sportsman's Park yesterday in the third game of the series with the world's champion Pirates, some 4000 persons saw what the Cardinals wanted with Keen. The former Cub was a great pitcher—one who, if he carries on at anything like his opening pace, is going to be a great help to Rogers Hornsby.

Keen did not pitch anything like his 1925 record. Keen did not have a sensational record in 1925. He won but two games and lost six and in 88 innings he yielded an average of 6.29. FARNE'S RUNS IN EACH NINE INNINGS. That was enough to make the fans wonder what do the Cardinals want with a pitcher of that kind?"

Vindictive Killefer.

But the St. Louis Nationals took on the right-hander on the word of Bill Killefer, former manager of the Cubs, who is now Cardinal coach. Yesterday, Killefer was vindicated. Before the spring training season had begun, he asserted old stand, the baseball reputation of Keen's making good. Bill knew something. He knew that while a member of the Bruins in 1925, Keen had a sore arm. He also knew that when the season closed, the right-hander was O. K. So when the Cardinals had the chance to make the trade, Killefer was "strong for it."

The right-hander, in stopping the Pittsburgh club, 2 to 0, and giving the Cardinals a 2-1 edge on the opening series, equaled one of his 1925 records—that of pitching one complete game. Believe it or not, but just one full contest is all that Keen worked during the entire championship campaign. That was enough to make the fans wonder what do the Cardinals want with a pitcher of that kind?"

The first complaint has been made by the new Sportsman's Park. It has been plagued by Cardinal pitchers. After two hurlers, Haines and Keen, had been felled by smashes through the box on successive days, the flingers let out a yell of protest, and the box, running to the top of the grand stand, made it impossible for them to see the liners. As a result, something probably will be done. And its tough trying to see accurately what is going on through that mesh.

Glen Wright, Pittsburgh's All-American, has come through with a sparkling exhibition. All he did was to handle 12 chances cleanly, three putouts and nine assists. That's stepping for so early in the year.

Manager Hornsby might have had a perfect day at the plate. However, his first time at the plate was not perfect. The Cardinal leader followed with a double and two singles.

Only two players were on duty. The veteran Hank O'Day was taken seriously ill and removed to St. John's Hospital.

PRINCIPIA EASILY WINS
FROM BEAUMONT HIGH, 65-39 IN DUAL MEET.

The Principia Academy track team defeated the Beaumont High school squad 65 to 39 in a dual meet at the new Principia field in St. Louis County yesterday afternoon. Coach Kershaw's men won nine out of a total of 12 events from the northsiders. The meet consisted only of senior events. The Juniors will hold a meet later this month.

On the harder, Barnhart, who drove in more runs than any other Pittsburgh batter in 1925, was retired on a pop fly to Theronow, while Grantham fled to Hafey.

In all, 10 Pittsburgh men became base runners. Aside from the hits, three reached the initial sack via the base on balls route and two through errors.

When Chick Hafey, in right field, snared Barnhart's fly to end the game, Victor Keen stood in the center of the diamond and did a war dance. He had "come back" after his poor season of 1925.

Keen had to be a great pitcher to win. He was opposed to the curve ball expert, Johnny Morrison, and Morrison was so good that the Cardinals themselves were held to six safeties.

Takes Runs to Win.

But the locals had a Hornsby on the offense, and Pittsburgh did not. That was the difference. Twice Hornsby went to the plate with men in scoring position and twice he made good, driving in Mueller in the sixth and Keen in the eighth. Thus, the Cardinal manager shared with Keen the honors of downing the Corsairs.

With this kind of pitching and the batting of Hornsby, the Cardinals put up a fielding exhibition that at times bordered on the sensational. There was Lester Bell, who came up with two great plays; Helene Mueller, who took a three-base hit away from Moore with a running glove hand spear of a liner; there was Bob O'Farrell, who picked Moore flat-footed off first base.

Country Day Plays Today.

Country Day School will meet Country Day School this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock on the John Burroughs diamond at Clayton and Burroughs. The first game will be at 3:30 p.m. and the second at 4:30 p.m.

Tapperson Seeks Space in Vacant Lots to Care for 170 Teams.

By Jack Alexander.

The increasing popularity of summer sports supervised by the city will probably overtak the available facilities this year a survey of the municipal baseball, golf and tennis situation shows.

Golf and tennis have for some years been too much for the city officials to handle but baseball faces a partial curtailment for the first time. Lack of diamonds in the public parks has set the authorities to scouting around the city for any available tract where diamonds may be laid without too much filling-in work. The season begins May 1.

This condition has been brought about by two elements. The number of applicants for berths in the municipal baseball organization has increased and the number of diamonds ready for use has been cut from 46 to 36. Over 170 teams have applied for membership this year as compared to the 159 that played in 1925.

C. of C. Gets the Ground.

Nine diamonds in Forest Park have been withdrawn from active use because of an exposition which the Chamber of Commerce plans holding in this section of the park in September. Work on the buildings for this event will start May 1, thus depriving the baseball leagues of their use. Another diamond in the same locality, the Southern section of the park, lies in the path of the new water main which is being laid from the new Missouri River waterworks, bringing the total of lost grounds to 16.

At least six more diamonds are needed. These will be sufficient providing the leagues can be divided up evenly into Saturday and Sunday groups. If not, membership privilege will be given on a seniority basis and some request, including those for the first time, will be the first to get the ax. Superintendent of Recreation Taperson said yesterday that he hoped to secure enough grounds to pitch the Athletics to a 15-inning defeat by 1 to 0 at the start of the season.

If the Athletics are going to be unable to wrestle with men like Johnson and Coeleskie for better than a batting average under .350 they will have to get something into that infield of theirs which can chum up some base hits.

If the Seniors can get away to a start which will give them loosing space now and then, the American League ship right now is headed down on the Potomac River with Buckley Harris at the rudder. That is because the Wash-

FIRM OF JOHNSON-COEVESKIE
THREATENS PENNANT MONOPOLY

Senators' Mainstays Were Unable to Deliver in Spring Games Last Season—This Year Mack's Fence Busters Averaged 146 Against Bucky Harris' Veteran Aces.

By Jim B. Foster.

NEW YORK, April 16.—If the firm of Johnson-Coeleskie, limited, is going to repeat its success of 1925 and if it continues to do business with something of the same output that it has to date, the American League had better direct all its big berths, its medium berths and its pony berths at the Washington Senators.

The Senators are natural target bearers, but with two pitchers hitting it up in mid-April so that the combined effort again them results in a batting percentage of .146—and that on the part of the Athletics, the runners-up in 1925—the Senators can afford to be target bearers.

Coeleskie had not got started on his triumphant march this early in 1925. Nor had Walter Johnson, because the big fellow didn't begin to pitch until the champions had gone to Philadelphia, where he lost the April 18 game to the Athletics, 3 to 0. Harris pitched for the Athletics and it was largely because of his victories against the Senators that Philadelphia started so jubilantly on its way. Coeleskie did not win a game against Philadelphia in April of last year. In that month he pitched with some success but with no assurance that he was fit to win continuously or even at a fifty-fifty rate, which would be quite enough for the Senators.

Now and then the fan finds himself calling this game or that the greatest in the history of a player's record, but Johnson, in the world series or any other place, never did anything much bigger in baseball than to pitch the Athletics to a 15-inning defeat by 1 to 0 at the start of the season.

If the Athletics are going to be unable to wrestle with men like Johnson and Coeleskie for better than a batting average under .350 they will have to get something into that infield of theirs which can chum up some base hits.

Municipal champions in soccer and basketball were awarded trophies last night at Loew's State Theater in a special luncheon program. Mayor Miller, Branch Rickey and Jack Gross, president of the association, made speeches.

The teams which received trophies were the Fairmount Democrats, soccer champions; the Cardinals, basketball champions; Werner & Werner, basketball titleholders, and the Holy Ghost quintet, junior basketball champions.

Articles of incorporation were filed with the Secretary of State at Lansing late yesterday. The company was capitalized at $10,000.

The incorporators were named as Glenn D. Curtiss, Lewis A. Ewald and M. Ross Freedman, all attorneys.

They refused to comment on the proposed venture, but Curtiss admitted that Rickard and perhaps other Eastern men were interested in the venture.

Raab says:

OWNER WILL BE ENRICHED $185,000, IF MANTONIAN WINS THE DERBY

FUTURE BOOK WAGER AT 200 TO 1 PLACED

Also Stands to Win About $65,000 Purse, if French Brede Colt Comes Home First on May 15.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 15.—

H. Teller Archibald, known as the "andy King" allround sportsman, is highly interested in his stable, now being trained at Churchill Downs by George Arvin. Mr. Archibald is so interested in his Derby colt, Mantonian, that he is spending much of his time at the Downs speeding up the colt in his preparation for the classic.

Mantonian is a likely looking thoroughbred and is going along nicely in his training. He has never been "set down" over a long route, at sprinting distances he has won on several occasions this spring.

Don't think that Mantonian is not "meant" in the Derby. He was given plenty of work at Miami, during the winter and is now waiting for a good or fast track here to be "set on the rails" for a real speed test.

Mr. Archibald has a nice wager in the future books on Mantonian, I think for the Ohio games.

Last Night's Fights

By the Associated Press
AKRON, O.—Eddie Shea, Chicago, won a technical knockout over Phil Verdi, Rochester, N. Y. (5).
PITTSBURG—Mike Wallace, Cleveland, beat Nick Perleik, Pittsburgh (10).

HORNSBY'S ANSWERS

He said that he could not resist the odds offered by the futureists against his colt.

"Just took a little flyer on him at 200 to 1," he casually remarked at the Downs yesterday, "but was a long chance through the odds. The bookies laid me $160,000 to $500 to win and $25,000 to $500 to show," he said as the colt was being rubbed.

As the Derby will be worth about $65,000, Archibald stands to collect about $182,000 if his colt wins.

Fast work over the Downs course today was impossible. While all the Derby candidates were out, none were asked to go fast. The track was heavy and holding near the rail; in fact, so bad, most of the horses were worked out near the middle of the course.

Haste, the Widener Derby colt, was breezed a half-mile in 55 seconds. The track was not meeting the throw and the ball goes into left field, the runner scoring. Who gets the error? Infelder.

The third baseman.

Catcher makes a perfect throw to third in time to catch a runner. The ball was not in the air when he was hitting the throw and the ball goes into left field, the runner scoring. Who gets the error? Infelder.

The third baseman.

WIFE OF BANKRUPT PAYS WOMAN $9500

Mrs. Junius Chapman Wipes Out Claim Based on Automobile Fatality.

Mrs. Junius Chapman, wife of a St. Louis County contractor who listed a $9000 judgment obtained against him by the widow of a man killed by Chapman's truck, when he filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy early this year, yesterday obtained an assignment of the claim by paying the widow the full amount of the judgment and $500 interest.

Other debts listed by Chapman, amounting to approximately $2000, will be paid by Mrs. Chapman and the bankruptcy case is likely to be terminated when it comes up for hearing before Referee Coles next Wednesday. Assets valued at $198 were listed by Chapman.

Widow Works as Seamstress.

Settlement of the claim came after Chapman had several other witnesses had been subjected to a rigid examination before Referee Coles about the disposition by Chapman of an appreciable amount of assets after his truck killed Thomas Vaughn and seriously injured Mrs. Vaughn in 1921 while they were waiting for a street car at Oakland and Dillon avenues.

Mrs. Vaughn, who obtained a $5000 judgment for the death of her husband and $4000 for injuries she suffered, is employed as a seamstress at the Curlee Clothing Co. She resides at 1700A Nebraska avenue.

Carlyle J. Dunn, trustee for Chapman's estate, who conducted the examination of the witnesses, in announcing settlement of the claim, said Mrs. Chapman told him she wished to terminate the case because "it wouldn't stand the publicity." Dunn estimates that the total cost of the bankruptcy proceedings will be about $5000.

Planned Receivership.

Dunn and John R. Reno, attorney for Mrs. Chapman, had prepared petitions asking for appointment of receivers for the North Park Construction Co. and the Woodson Realty Co. to be filed in Circuit Court yesterday, but the settlement forestalled this action. These two companies, it is alleged, by Reno and Dunn, are owned in large part by Chapman, although other persons are listed as the holders of stock.

Mrs. Vaughn said yesterday that she intended to put the money she obtained in the bank for use when she is forced to stop working. Her salary as a seamstress is $15 a week and she keeps roomers. Six of Mrs. Vaughn's seven children are married and the other, an 18-year-old boy, has left home.

TWO STRANGLERS DIE ON

GALLows IN CHICAGO

White Man and Negro, Convicted of Killing Women, Hanged at Same Time.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 16.—Raymond Costello and Charles Hobbs, Negro, stranglers of women, were hanged together here at 9:21 o'clock this morning.

Costello calmly smoked a cigarette while the straps were being adjusted to pinion his limbs and relinquished it reluctantly only when the white hood was placed over his head.

The Negro prayed while the straps shroud and hood were being adjusted and until the double trap was sprung.

Costello was convicted of attacking and strangling 16-year-old Madeline White. He pleaded not guilty and reiterated his statement today.

Hobbs freely admitted that he strangled his landlady, Betty Barnett, to steal 75 cents.

Costello bitterly arraigned his attorney today for failure to obtain a last minute stay of execution. A plea of insanity since conviction recently failed.

Both men slept several hours last night, but refused to eat either supper last night or breakfast this morning.

"We can't eat," Costello said in low tones, and Hobbs echoed the remark.

Costello's mother, brother and common-law wife with their three months' old baby, bade him goodby last night.

ENGLISH PROSECUTORS WILL GO TO SENATE WEDNESDAY

Summons They Will Be Issued for Judge to Come to Trial for Miscreanors.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Managers for the House in the impeachment trial of Federal Judge George W. English of East St. Louis will be received by the Senate next week after the vote Wednesday on the Italian debt settlement.

In making this announcement yesterday, administration leaders said the Senate on the day after the managers are received, will resolve into a court and issue a formal summons for Judge English to appear at the bar to answer the house charges.

While the Senate Judiciary Subcommittee has held that the Senate has a right to conduct trial at special sessions, the question as to whether that will be done will be decided by the Senate itself. Some Senators favor putting the trial over until after November elections, arguing that it would not be possible to keep a quorum of the Senate here during June or July.

THE RED LAMP

by MARY ROBERTS RINEHART

CHAPTER XIV.

MADE an excuse this morning to Annie Cochran, and she slipped me up the kitchen staircase of the other house and so to the attic. The lamp was as I had left it and the closet locked, and today I am asking myself whether with that curtain back of perspective one finds at night, I did not see instead of the lamp far away, the lighted end of a cigar close at hand.

Annie's report on my tenants is satisfactory on the while. She doesn't much care for the secretary, but the old man's "hark is worse than his bite." He comes down in the morning, or is helped down, to his breakfast, and she cuts his food for him—he seems to dislike the boy's doing it—reads the paper and then goes to work.

"To work?" I asked. "What sort of work?"

"He's writing a book."

But it appears that he is writing it only in the nonliterary sense. He is dictating a book. And it also appears that he has chosen this place because of its isolation, and Annie's orders are that he receive no visitors.

But she also appears that young Gordon is perhaps not as courageous as he made out to me when he came to look over the house, and that he has been "hearing things."

"What sort of things?"

"He didn't say, but he asked me this morning if I'd been in the house last night. 'If you find me here at night, it'll be because I'm paralyzed and can't move,' I said, 'and if you take my advice you'll not go round hunting if you hear anything."

"That must have cheered him considerably."

"I don't know about that. He just looked at me and said, 'What's the game, anyhow? I'll bet a dollar you're in on it!'"

Edith has sprung a surprise on us all. I have noticed for a day or two that she's been taking a keen interest in the mail; yet Edith's mail with Halliday here, is largely a matter of delicate and the large square handwriting of the modern young woman, and has dealt this summer largely with reports on house parties, summer reports, and various young men who seem recognizable to her under such cognomina as Chick, Bud and Carley.

This morning, however, her mail included a business-like envelope, and she flung the white, rose and mauve heap aside and pounced on it. A moment later she got up and coming around the table to me, gravely kissed that portion of my head which is gradually emerging, like a shore on an ebb tide, from my hair.

"As one literary artist to another," she said, "I salute you." And placed before me a check for $20.

She has written a feature article on our sheep-killing and has sold it.

"And it took me only two hours," she said triumphantly. After that she was once silent, computing, I dare say, how much she can earn, giving four hours a day to it for six days a week. At the rate, then, of ten thousand a year!

"Considerably more than I receive, Edith," I said gravely, and I saw I had been right by the way she started.

She set off at once for the boat-house, but came back later considerably crestfallen, and poured out her troubles to me.

"If he had anything he would give it to me," she wailed. "If I can write and make money."

"You can't fight the masculine instinct, my dear, to support its woman; not be kept by her."

"And wait for years and years to do it," she said. "The best years of our lives going by, and—nothing."

Besides, have you considered this? You will not always find subjects as salable as this one has been."

"Subject!" she said scornfully. "Why, this place is full of them."

The result of which has been, on my part all day an uneasy apprehension as to what she will choose next. Nor am I made easier by a question she asked me just before dinner.

"What became of the Riggs woman?" she asked. "Do you suppose she's still around here?"

"I imagine not. Why?"

"I just wondered," she objects. "Your Uncle Horace didn't wander to that particular corner of the veranda from which he had a distant but apparently satisfactory view of the boat-house."

Perhaps Halliday is right. (Note: in his suggestion that Jane and I take the top off and go down the road for a few days.) If any sheep are killed in my absence, and something more serious should happen, it will serve to rout Greenough's absurd determination to involve me, and provide a complete alibi. At the same time, it will be rest and recreation for Jane, and it may put me in a better frame of mind.

Peter Geiss, he thinks, would go with us as captain and bunk under a pup tent, leaving the cable to Jane and myself.

10 AM (in the sleep) July 10th.

A MAZINGLY, the elderly wife with which you thought I was—Peter—were rolling gently to our anchor in Bass Cove, close enough to be quiet and far enough out to escape the suspicion. And just only yesterday the place was an atmosphere of things, floating in the air between Halliday and myself, a mere ghost of an idea, without material substance.

I am glad to sit in my wicker chair, this journal on my knee, and rest my body. I have indeed earned my night's repose. Now and then I reach out a languid hand and touch a fishing line, one end of which is tied to the arm of my chair, the other extending into those mysterious depths from which I hope to lure tomorrow's breakfast.

The shop is tidy. Is even fairly seaworthy. Her bottom has been scrubbed with a broom, and her hull slightly mildewed, still present from a distance a certain impressiveness.

"What?" I shout at Peter Geiss. "Is that small sail in front? Forward, I mean."

"The sail, there, what's its name?" I say, pointing. "Name?"

"I'll say it's a shame," he says.

"Canva on this boat cost the old gentleman a lot of money."

What is reality and what is not? Only what we can see, hear, touch or taste? But that is absurd. Thought is a reality; perhaps the only reality.

But can thought exist independent of the body? The spiritists believe it can. And undoubtedly the universe is full of unheard sounds; even when there was a river at hand.

"I haven't an idea," she says absently, her eyes on her alcohol cooking stove. "They weren't clean in those days, were they?"

But I think my dear Jane is exceedingly uncertain as to just what days were those of Nausicaa.

We have a small cabin, with four bunks in it, and two of these are now neatly and geometrically made up, ready for the night. In Jane's small closet there is food of all sorts, new rows of tins and wax-paper packages. If we are washed out to sea we can, I imagine, live indefinitely on deviled ham, sausages and cheese. And I have the radio and begins to pick them up for us.

But the radio requires a peculiar sort of receiving instrument, and so with the sights and sounds beyond our normal ken. Jane may beすぐ ansa. So for all I know may be Peter Geiss, snoring in his pup tent. Even myself. (Note: I fell asleep here, and the entry is incomplete.)

July 12.

Just what did Peter Geiss see last night?

If I were asked to name in order of their psychic quality, the three persons on this boat, I would put Jane first and Peter last.

He is a materialist. Not for him the interesting abstractions, the controversial problems of the universe. The life of the mind, the questions of the soul, are hidden from him. His food, his tobacco, the direction of the wind, the state of the tide, these cover the field of his speculation and anxieties. And yet—Peter saw something last night.

It was about 1 o'clock in the morning, and he had wakened and crawled out of his pup tent with, according to him, "the feeling that we were in for a blow. There was a cold wind across my feet."

So he rose, and he saw that our red lantern was burning low, and gingerly stepping across me reached into a locker for the oil lamp.

When he straightened up he saw a shadowy figure standing in the bow of the boat, directly under the lantern.

He thought at first that it was Halliday, but the next moment he had stumbled across me as I lay supine, and the oil can fell and went a-rolling. The noise did not disturb the figure, and Peter gave a long look at it before he howled like a hyena and brought me up all night.

It was only then that it disappeared. "Just blew to windward," according to Peter. I never saw it at all.

But the nature of the idea that there is a possibility between the killer and Uncle Horace's letter. He believes, in other words, that some curious and perhaps monstrous idea lies behind the sheep-killing, and that it may be the same idea to which the letter refers.

There is something behind it," he asserts. "Something so vital to the man who believes it that he is ready to kill—has killed certainly once and possibly twice—to protect it."

But the nature of the idea, or conviction, he nobly evades by the wheel, staring forward, a queer oil figure of terror without hope. And I think I was much better.

Peter Geiss was not much better.

He is as he says, as far as he goes. He is, however, careful to say that his theory has got him somewhere; that is, that there is a definite idea behind what has been the real thing?"

"And what is to be the real thing?"

"What is the wickedest crime you can name, against society?"

"The taking of human life."

"I think he is as far as he goes. He is, however, careful to say that his theory has got him somewhere; that is, that there is a definite idea behind what has been the real thing?"

"An insane one, then."

"Not necessarily," he objects.

His Uncle Horace didn't write to me. I wonder to that particular corner of the veranda from which he had a distant but apparently satisfactory view of the boat-house.

Perhaps Halliday is right. (Note: in his suggestion that Jane and I take the top off and go down the road for a few days.) If any sheep are killed in my absence, and something more serious should happen, it will serve to rout Greenough's absurd determination to involve me, and provide a complete alibi. At the same time, it will be rest and recreation for Jane, and it may put me in a better frame of mind.

Peter Geiss, he thinks, would go with us as captain and bunk under a pup tent, leaving the cable to Jane and myself.

For Summer Afternoons

Left—This gown of crepe de chine printed with roses is an exclusive creation for afternoon wear. The ties at the neck and wrists are of cerise velvet ribbon to add that necessary touch of lightness. The large hat of crinoline has, as its only trimming, a few flowers.

Right—White stamped crepe de chine gown for afternoon wear. The long-waisted effect and the printed material make it a favorite model for summer. The red and white sash gives it the note of distinction and a touch of added color.

Where Eggs Must Be Dug Up Out of the Sand.

TO those of us who live in great cities with several stores on each block, perhaps, or at least many within easy distance, the food hunter, if the sands are blown over and obliterated all traces of the turtle. But if there is no trace, he must walk along slowly, prodding the sands with his rod until he thinks he has found the eggs he seeks.

It is a simple matter for a modern housewife to send a servant or a child to the corner store when she suddenly finds that she has run short of eggs.

But when a native Borneo woman finds that she needs eggs, she faces a more difficult problem. She must send her husband a-hunting for them and the process may take a good deal of time. He starts out with a boat and a rod, but no definite destination.

For you must understand that the eggs he is seeking are not chicken's eggs, such as we use, but turtle's eggs. A turtle usually lays about 100 eggs at a time, and sometimes she even lays a hundred and thirty. But she is wiser than the chicken in that she buries her eggs beneath the sand. The hole she digs for them is about three feet deep.

Then the question of what constitutes robbery raises another fine point. Some people claim they have been robbed every time they pay 10 cents war tax when there is no war tax.

SCHEDULE OF AIR MAIL DELIVERIES FROM HERE TO NORTH, EAST AND WEST

ALL planes leave Lambert-St. Louis Field daily, except Saturday and Sunday, at 4 p. m. Mail carried on them is due at:

Chicago at 7:15 p. m., same day.

New York at 7:05 a. m., next day.

Brooklyn at 9 a. m., next day.

Cleveland at 12:20 a. m., next day.

Los Angeles at 5:25 p. m., second day.

San Francisco at 5 p. m., second day.

Southbound planes leave Chicago at 6 a. m. daily except Sunday and Monday, arrive at Lambert-St. Louis Field at 9:15 a. m.

Postage is 10 cents an ounce to Chicago and 15 cents to New York. Rates westward range up to 30 cents for some California points. It is also possible by sending by combination air and mail routes to effect substantial saving of time to points not on the air lines.

Mail for delivery on the afternoon plane northward must be in main postoffice at 3 p. m. Special air mail boxes, painted in the national colors, are to be found in various parts of the city.

More St. Louisans must use the newly inaugurated air mail service to Chicago, which puts St. Louis within 15 hours of New York. If it is to be retained, William Robertson, head of the contract carrier, the Robertson Aircraft Corporation, said today.

The plane which left at 4 p. m. yesterday for Chicago, and arrived there five minutes ahead of schedule, carried only 18 pounds of mail from St. Louis, as compared to the 250 pounds required to justify the service. About 75 pounds more was picked up at Springfield and Peoria, and Maj. Robertson said these cities could be depended on for that amount daily.

That is not a very good showing for St. Louis," he commented. "It won't take long to find out that St. Louis does not want air mail, if we can only expect 18 pounds of mail for a plane built to carry 600 pounds, and consuming 25 gallons of gasoline an hour. We can't keep it up and lose money on every plane that goes out."

The pilot was Phillip R. Lowe. On the flight to St. Louis in the forenoon he was delayed nearly two hours in Chicago, waiting for the arrival of the transcontinental from New York, but held close to schedule flying time and arrived here at 9:34 a. m., only 19 minutes behind schedule. That was the last flight to be made until Lindbergh took off for Chicago Monday. He spends his week-end here and loves in Chicago.

Special envelopes may be purchased at 406 Pine street. Other airmail lines to be inaugurated from Chicago to Fort Worth, Birmingham, Ala., New Orleans and St. Paul and Minneapolis.

PEORIA, Ill., April 17.—Flying through a heavy rain and snow-storm, 15 miles north of Peoria, this morning, Charles A. Lindbergh, mail pilot, on ship No. 109, arrived in Peoria only 19 minutes late on his way to St. Louis. Lindbergh reports that when he encountered the rain he directed his plane upward in the hope of dodging the storm, but he next ran into a blinding blizzard and was forced to drop down in the rain.
